Rusk, Gromyko Still Unable To Reach Accord

West-Soviet Dispute Over Berlin Remains Fully Deadlocked

GENEVA (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko return home, probably Thursday, after another thorough examination of the Western-Soviet dispute over Berlin and no apparent progress toward agreement.

Rusk and Gromyko held their usual positions Tuesday in a 3 1/2-hour meeting, their third since they arrived here last weekend for the windup of the 14-nation Laos conference and to address the deadlocked 17-nation disarmament conference.

The American spokesman said the meeting failed to produce "any significant change on the Berlin question."

Gromyko told newsmen the talks included the subject of a German peace treaty. This meant, the U.S. spokesman said, that "Mr. Gromyko discussed a peace treaty and Mr. Rusk discussed what Mr. Gromyko said."

The Soviet Union has long threatened to sign a separate peace treaty with Communist East Germany and turn control of West Berlin's supply lifelines over to the East Germans. There have been reports that the Russians intend to sign such a treaty later this year unless the West agrees to Soviet proposals to make West Berlin a so-called free city and withdraw the U.S., British and French garrisons.

Rusk once again repeated the Western position that a Soviet-East German peace treaty would not wipe away Western rights in Berlin gained through the Allies' conquest of Nazi Germany. Rusk said these rights were neither granted by the Russians nor could they be abrogated by them.

Rusk and Gromyko also took up disarmament problems. Here again, there apparently was no progress toward breaking the stalemate on either general disarmament or a nuclear test ban treaty.

Cuba Slated To Face Rap Of Subversion

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—The president of the Dominican Council said today his government will formally accuse Cuba of subversion and interference in Dominican internal affairs.

President Rafael Bonnelly said in an interview that powerful Havana shortwave radio broadcasts beamed at the Dominican Republic daily "incite violence and subversion."

He said Foreign Minister Jose Antonio Bonilla Atlas, who is now in Washington, has been instructed to take the protest before appropriate international bodies.

In the past week Havana radio, which claims to be airing a program for the Dominican "Liberation Movement in Exile," has been outlining steps to overthrow the Dominican government and calling for concerted action by students, peasants and laborers.

The Dominican government's press office said such calls for action are followed quickly by outbreaks of vandalism or terrorism by small gangs. Several stores were ransacked during the latest flareup.

Man Destroys Self With Fire in Auto

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Police say a semi-retired painter who died in his flaming car Tuesday, night apparently started the blaze intentionally.

The car, enveloped in flames, was parked on Groves Road between Hamilton and Courtwright roads on the far East Side. The victim was identified as Chester F. Myers, 63, of Columbus.

Police said their investigation caused them to believe Myers parked the car, rolled up the windows and locked the doors. Then he soaked a blanket and touched off the fire.

U.N. Studies Use of Force To Solve New Katanga Fuss

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—U.N. Congo Advisory Committee members today studied a suggestion by Acting Secretary-General U Thant that military force be used as a last resort to end the secession of the Congo's Katanga Province.

Committee members said Thant asked the 19-nation group during a closed-door meeting Tuesday their opinion of a military operation if economic pressure cannot end President Moïse Tshombe's defiance of the central Congo government.

Thant told a news conference in London July 7 the United Nations was planning new action against mineral-rich Katanga. But he added: "It has never been my intention—and never will be my intention—to use any military initiative."

Smallpox Shot Campaign Hit In Britain

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP)—The British Medical Association today called for a searching government probe into the mass vaccination of infants against smallpox.

The powerful organization of Britain's 67,000 doctors acted less than 24 hours after a top microbiologist, Dr. George Dick, declared that mass vaccinations against smallpox killed more people than rare outbreaks of the disease itself.

Addressing the association's annual convention Tuesday night, Dick said that 20 babies a year would be sacrificed if the British Ministry of Health went ahead with a campaign to mass vaccinate children. He referred to fatal complications arising from vaccination.

In London, the Health Ministry said earlier it is holding to its goal of smallpox vaccinations for every British baby despite the report of Dick, who is head of the Department of Microbiology at Queen's University, Belfast.

The association began its own private reappraisal of the value of vaccination earlier this year after a smallpox outbreak that hit parts of England and Wales, killing 20 people. The outbreak scared millions of Britons into a rush for vaccinations.

Dick's report startled Britain, here vaccination for children is regarded as a routine procedure in the government child care program.

Babysitters Give 6-Point Code to Employers

ROSELLE, N.J. (AP)—Six teenage babysitters, claiming that some parents have an obvious disregard of fair business practices, have banded together and laid down the law to their employers.

The girls, all 16 years old, drafted a six-point code of fair employment practice for the 308 families living in the Lockwood Vill-lage apartments, where the group does most of its sitting.

Adele Macy, spokesman for the sitters, said two offending parents have been put on an unfair list.

The Confederation of Babysitters does not consider itself a union, Miss Macy said, "but we have to cooperate to protect ourselves."

The six regulations, with Miss

1. Babysitters must be paid the amount promised. "Some customers have been contracting to pay 75 cents an hour, then have reneged and paid only 50 cents."

2. A minimum one-day notice, except in an emergency. "Some persons call us on an hour's notice."

3. Notify the sitter if the television set is not working. "If we know there's no television we can bring a book."

4. No introduction of additional children. "Some persons recently have told us they have only two children and then before they leave they bring over three children of neighbors."

5. Time-and-a-half for afternoon assignments and for all hours after midnight. "The added charge for day work is because the children are all awake and it takes a lot more work to keep them quiet."

6. Treatment as babysitters and not as servants. "Some customers act as if we were in the pre-Civil War slave era. We are experienced babysitters and expect to be treated as such."

Senate Probers Say Hoffa Continues Mobster Tieup

Algeria Rebel Chief Moves Toward Capital

ALGIERS (AP)—Dissident Deputy Premier Ahmed Ben Bella was reported moving today toward the seat of power in Algiers following the capitulation of Premier Ben Youssef Ben Khedda's moderate regime to Ben Bella's army-backed leftist faction.

Ben Bella was due today in the central Algerian town of Tiarret from his western headquarters at Tlemcen for the first meeting of the National Liberation Front's Political Bureau, which will take over effective control of the government. Ben Bella is one of the bureau's seven members and its dominant voice. He is expected to become its chairman and possibly take on the premiership as well.

Three other Political Bureau members arranged to take part in the meeting in Tiarret, 140 miles southwest of Algiers.

The three other members, all ministers in Ben Khedda's government, were believed planning to join the others later, either in Tiarret or when the bureau moves its activities to Algiers.

The Political Bureau was created by the revolutionary parliament, the National Council of the Algerian Revolution (CNRA), at a meeting in Tripoli June 7, nearly a month before Algeria commands a big majority in the CNRA.

Ben Khedda and his supporters, who control only about a third of the CNRA's 72 members, walked out of the Tripoli meeting in protest against the makeup of the politburo from which the premier was excluded.

Ben Bella in turn walked out of the Ben Khedda Cabinet and picked up the support of the chief of the 45,000-man regular army's general staff, whom Ben Khedda had dismissed for allegedly plotting a military dictatorship.

Ben Khedda set up headquarters in western Algeria and demanded that Ben Khedda "return to legality" by recognizing the Political Bureau.

Ben Khedda's government disclosed in informal statements Tuesday that it had bowed to Ben Bella and would convene the CNRA Aug. 2 to stamp another seal of approval on the bureau.

Living Costs Climb Again

WASHINGTON (AP)—Living costs edged up in June to another new record largely because of higher food prices, especially cost of restaurant meals.

The Labor Department announced today its consumer price index rose one-tenth of one percent to 105.3 per cent of the 1957-59 base period. This means that the value of the dollar in retail markets is about 5 cents less than in the comparative period.

The June living cost rise was largely attributed to a 9 per cent increase in prices of fresh fruits but this was largely seasonal.

Restaurant meals rose one-half of one per cent in the month. The over-all food index is now at a record high with grocery store prices up by one per cent from last year and restaurant meals 2.8 per cent above a year ago.

Pickaway County Will Vote On 3 Tax Measures in Nov.

Pickaway County's Board of Commissioners have approved three formal resolutions calling for countywide votes on tax levies this fall.

Two of the measures are for ten-hundredths of one mill and one is for five-hundredths of one mill. All three would run for five years.

The resolutions will now go to the Pickaway County Board of Elections for its approval and placement on the Nov. 6 ballot.

Two of the proposals seek to levy a tax in excess of the 10 mill limitation and the other calls for renewal of a tax in excess of the 10-mill limitation.

ONE OF the proposals calls for a renewal of a tax for the purpose of providing additional funds to supplement the general fund for the care, treatment and maintenance of residents of Pickaway County who are suffering from tuberculosis at hospitals with which the County Commissioners have contracts.

One levy proposal calls for additional funds to supplement the general fund for the maintenance and operation of the Tuberculosis Clinic of Pickaway County.

The other levy calls for additional funds to supplement the general fund for the maintenance and operation of the Tuberculosis Clinic of Pickaway County.

al fund for the building, maintenance, operation and support for the Pickaway County School for Retarded Children.

The ten-hundredths renewal and the ten-hundredths levy would cost one cent for each $100 valuation of taxable property. The five-hundredths levy would cost one-half cent for each $100 of evaluation.

Commission Chairman Charles Morris today emphasized that the proposals will not represent an increase in taxes, but rather a change in the division of money now provided by a 25-hundredths of one mill levy. Money provided by the levy now in force can be used only in tuberculosis hospitals, not in a TB clinic as the proposed levy would specify, he added.

Morris said the present fund for TB patients, as provided by the 25-hundredths levy, is building too high. There currently is about $90,000 in the fund.

IN VIEW of this, Morris said, the Commission is attempting to split this money so it can be spent for both hospital and clinical work and for retarded children work. He said this can be done if the proposals are passed in the November election.

He said passage would insure proper distribution to the school for Retarded Children which now comes under direction of the county welfare department. County supervision was authorized by a recent state law.

According to the Commission chairman, the proposed levies would provide about $10,000 each to the TB hospital and retarded children operations and about $5,000 for the TB clinic which is conducted at Berger Hospital.

Negroes Weigh Suspension Of Georgia Demonstrations

ALBANY, Ga. (AP)—Negro leaders weighed today a possible suspension of mass racial demonstrations after violence climaxed a protest march in this uneasy southwest Georgia city.

The ripple of violence, in which two officers received minor injuries, came Tuesday night just a few hours after a federal judge's action cleared the way for Negroes to renew their anti-segregation activities.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. of Atlanta, integration leader who preaches nonviolence and passive resistance in the Negro's fight for equal rights, termed the incident regrettable. He said he would halt demonstrations temporarily if he feels Albany Negroes cannot stick to a strict nonviolent campaign.

The trouble developed when about 170 officers moved into the Negro section to disperse about 2,000 Negroes in the vicinity of a bus terminal.

State trooper Claude Hill of Tifton was struck by a rock, bruising his face and knocking out a tooth. Bottles and rocks rained onto the pavement as two lines of officers broke up milling crowds of Negroes.

The missiles flew after 39 Negroes and one white man marched from a church to the downtown area and were jailed for parading without a permit. Several hundred had started the march but most dropped out before reaching the area where police had warned demonstrators would be arrested.

Shortly before the march began, Negroes filed federal court action to desegregate all public facilities and to prevent police interference with anti-segregation demonstration.

King, who had urged at a mass rally that the Negroes march, said the violence "developed apparently from some onlookers who were not part of our movement."

Cincinnati Area Bank Loses $1,000 to Thugs

CINCINNATI (AP)—"This is a holdup. I want $1,000 in old tens."

Bank teller Bill Horne thought the young man was kidding Tuesday, but the demand was repeated after the man pulled a foreign pistol from a paper bag.

Horne handed over two packs of $500 in tens and the young bandit fled.

FBI agents teamed up with police investigating the robbery at the Silverton Bank in suburban Montgomery.

the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals opened the way for renewed demonstrations by staying a temporary injunction against such protests. The injunction, issued Friday by U.S. Dist. Judge J. Robert Elliott, comes up at a hearing Monday in Albany.

Tuttle held that Elliott lacked jurisdiction for the sweeping order which banned marches, picketing, and boycotting by several persons and groups spearheading the integration fight here.

Abortion Plan Postponed by Legal Action

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—A Phoenix woman broke into tears when she learned that legal complication had halted plans to abort her three-month pregnancy.

The woman, who has taken a drug blamed for the births of numerous malformed babies in Europe, had been scheduled to enter Good Samaritan Hospital today for the operation.

"I don't know what I'll do now," she said when informed hospital administrator Stephen Morris had canceled the operation.

The woman says she took some sleeping pills containing the drug, thalidomide, during her first weeks of pregnancy. She decided on an operation after a secret three-man panel of medical specialists, recommended abortion.

Arizona law forbids abortion except to save the life of the mother.

"Everything is being held in abeyance until the legal determination is made," Morris said. "It should be cleared up in a couple of days."

The woman said Tuesday she and her husband, a high school teacher, don't want to risk bringing a malformed child into the world.

The woman, who is in her 30s, said her husband obtained the thalidomide on a trip to Europe last year. She took some of the pills after they returned to Arizona.

Soblen Asks Entry As Israel Immigrant

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—Dr. Robert Soblen's lawyer today filed an application to allow the convicted Soviet spy facing a life sentence in the United States to return to Israel as an immigrant.

The lawyer, Dr. Ari Ankorian, said he made the plea to Interior Minister Moshe Shapiro.

Soblen, 61, is in a British prison awaiting his appeal against a court judgement refusing his plea to remain in Britain.

He jumped bail in June and fled to Israel two days before he was to surrender to a New York court to begin his sentence.

Report Says Union Chief Condone Vice

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate investigations subcommittee accused James K. Hoffa, Teamsters Union president, of corrupt and continuing ties with New York mobster Antonio (Tony Ducks) Corallo.

The stinging report to the Senate today pictured Hoffa as a labor leader who doesn't care whether Teamsters aides rob and cheat the union or indulge in pay-off deals.

Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark, told the Senate he had held up filing the report for more than half a year, lest the publicity interfere with a trial of Corallo. Corallo was convicted in June with former New York Supreme Court Justice J. Vincent Keogh and Elliot Kahan, former U. S. attorney in Brooklyn, on charges of conspiring to fix a federal court criminal case.

The subcommittee's unanimous findings rejected Hoffa's sworn denial that he had sent this word to Corallo, the alleged real power in New York Teamsters Local 230.

"I don't care if you want to— you want to steal, you want to rob, go ahead. Don't get caught. Don't get caught."

New York City police telephone wiretappers had recorded the message as allegedly passed along to Corallo by Bernard Stein, another New York Hoffa aide who had just conferred in Washington with Hoffa.

"This subcommittee," the report to the Senate said, "by force of the overwhelming evidence, must conclude that Hoffa in callous disregard of the welfare of the Teamsters membership, in fact does not care whether officials of Local 239 or, for that matter, officials of any other segment of the Teamsters Union, are robbing, stealing, dealing under the table, or indulging in any other improper or criminal activities."

Chilling Image Of Berlin Wall Is Seen on TV

NEW YORK (AP)—The awesome and chilling image of the Berlin wall was brought home to Americans Tuesday night—literally—as a live telecast of the barrier dividing the city was flashed to the United States via Telstar.

The program originated in the American sector of Berlin, at Heinrich Heine-Strasse, where there is a crossing point for West Germans to enter East Berlin. It was carried by the National Broadcasting Co. as, for the first time in history, all three major American networks offered individual live television news reports from Europe.

The American Broadcasting Co. presented its chief European correspondent, Lou Cioffi, from Paris, and diplomatic correspondent taped newscast from Geneva.

The Columbia Broadcasting System presented a live program from Paris and a live, part-taped newscast from Geneva.

In the NBC transmission from Berlin—120 miles behind the Iron Curtain—floodlights illuminated the barbed wire and the armed guards at the wall, while cameras picked up the image that was fed to Telstar and, ultimately, to home screens in the United States.

U.N. Studies Use of Force To Solve New Katanga Fuss

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—U.N. Congo Advisory Committee members today studied a suggestion by Acting Secretary-General U Thant that military force be used as a last resort to end the secession of the Congo's Katanga Province.

Committee members said Thant asked the 19-nation group during a closed-door meeting Tuesday their opinion of a military operation if economic pressure cannot end President Moise Tshombe's defiance of the central Congo government.

Thant told a news conference in London July 7 the United Nations was planning new action against mineral-rich Katanga. But he added: "It has never been my intention—and never will be my intention—to use any military initiative."

Katanga troops fought United Nations forces to a standstill last September. New fighting broke out in December and the United Nations won control of the center of Elisabethville, Katanga's capital.

Since then the United Nations has tried to negotiate a settlement between Tshombe and Premier Cyrille Adoula of the central government. Negotiations were broken off in June, and Tshombe told a news conference Monday he no longer considers Adoula a valid spokesman for the central government.

Members of the Congo Committee said Thant also raised the possibility of an economic blockade against Katanga and asked whether the committee thought the Security Council should be called soon to consider the situation.

Katanga broke away from the central government two years ago and proclaimed an independent nation. The United Nations and several individual members, including the United States, have pressured Tshombe since to end the session as the only way of giving the Congo a chance of reaching economic and political stability. Katanga's copper, cobalt and other mineral resources are the major asset of the former Belgian territory.

Most of the resources are controlled by the Belgian Union Minière Corporation. The mining company presently pays taxes only to Katanga, and the United Nations wants a major portion shifted to the Leopoldville government.

DiSalle Sees Ohio Incomes on Rise

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle wound up an one-day campaign jaunt Tuesday with a prediction there will be an 8 per cent climb in Ohioans' personal income in 1962.

Speaking at a dinner in Defiance before returning here, DiSalle said "a projection worked up by income analysts" shows only six states are expected to top Ohio's gains in personal income.

The states he mentioned were Arizona, California, Colorado, Florida, Hawaii and Nevada. He said the expected per capita income for this year is more than $2,500.

Earlier in the day, the governor made campaign stops in Findlay, Ottawa, Napoleon and Wauseon, all in Northwestern Ohio.

Pickaway County Will Vote On 3 Tax Measures in Nov.

Pickaway County's Board of Commissioners have approved three formal resolutions calling for countywide votes on tax levies this fall.

Two of the measures are for ten-hundredths of one mill and one is for five-hundredths of one mill. All three would run for five years.

The resolutions will now go to the Pickaway County Board of Elections for its approval and placement on the Nov. 6 ballot.

Two of the proposals seek to levy a tax in excess of the 10 mill limitation and the other calls for renewal of a tax in excess of the 10-mill limitation.

ONE OF the proposals calls for a renewal of a tax for the purpose of providing additional funds to supplement the general fund for the care, treatment and maintenance of residents of Pickaway County who are suffering from tuberculosis at hospitals with which the County Commissioners have contracts.

One levy proposal calls for additional funds to supplement the general fund for the maintenance and operation of the Tuberculosis Clinic of Pickaway County.

The other levy calls for additional funds to supplement the general fund for the building, maintenance, operation and support for the Pickaway County School for Retarded Children.

The ten-hundredths renewal and the ten-hundredths levy would cost one cent for each $100 valuation of taxable property. The five-hundredths levy would cost one-half cent for each $100 of valuation.

Commission Chairman Charles Morris today emphasized that the proposals will not represent an increase in taxes, but rather a change in the division of money now provided by a 25-hundredths of one mill levy. Money provided by the levy now in force can be used only in tuberculosis hospitals, not in a TB clinic as the proposed levy would specify, he added.

Morris said the present fund for TB patients, as provided by the 25-hundredths levy, is building too high. There currently is about $90,000 in the fund.

IN VIEW of this, Morris said, the Commission is attempting to split this money so it can be spent for both hospital and clinical work and for retarded children work. He said this can be done if the proposals are passed in the November election.

He said passage would insure proper distribution to the school for Retarded Children which now comes under direction of the county welfare department. County supervision was authorized by a recent state law.

According to the Commission chairman, the proposed levies would provide about $10,000 each to the TB hospital and retarded children operations and about $5,000 for the TB clinic which is conducted at Berger Hospital.

Negroes Weigh Suspension Of Georgia Demonstrations

ALBANY, Ga. (AP)—Negro leaders weighed today a possible suspension of mass racial demonstrations after violence climaxed a protest march in this uneasy southwest Georgia city.

The ripple of violence, in which two officers received minor injuries, came Tuesday night just a few hours after a federal judge's action cleared the way for Negroes to renew their anti-segregation activities.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. of Atlanta, integration leader who preaches nonviolence and passive resistance in the Negro's fight for equal rights, termed the incident regrettable. He said he would halt demonstrations temporarily if he feels Albany Negroes cannot stick to a strict nonviolent campaign.

The trouble developed when about 170 officers moved into the Negro section to disperse about 2,000 Negroes in the vicinity of a bus terminal.

State trooper Claude Hill of Tifton was struck by a rock, bruising his face and knocking out a tooth. Bottles and rocks rained on the pavement as two lines of officers broke up milling crowds of Negroes.

The missiles flew after 39 Negroes and one white man marched from a church to the downtown area and were jailed for parading without a permit. Several hundred had started the march but most dropped out before reaching the area where police had warned demonstrators would be arrested.

Shortly before the march began, Negroes filed federal court action to desegregate all public facilities and to prevent police interference with anti-segregation demonstrations.

King, who had urged at a mass rally that the Negroes march, said the violence "developed apparently from some onlookers who were not part of our movement."

Cincinnati Area Bank Loses $1,000 to Thugs

CINCINNATI (AP)—"This is a holdup. I want $1,000 in old tens."

Bank teller Bill Horne thought the young man was kidding Tuesday, but the demand was repeated after the man pulled a foreign pistol from a paper bag.

Horne handed over two packs of $500 in tens and the young bandit fled.

FBI agents teamed up with police investigating the robbery at the Silverton Bank in suburban Montgomery.

the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals opened the way for renewed demonstrations by staying a temporary injunction against such protests. The injunction, issued Friday by U.S. Dist. Judge J. Robert Elliott, comes up for a hearing Monday in Albany.

Tuttle held that Elliott lacked jurisdiction for the sweeping order which banned marches, picketing, and boycotting by several persons and groups spearheading the integration fight here.

"This subcommittee," the report to the Senate said, "by force of the overwhelming evidence, must conclude that Hoffa in callous disregard of the welfare of the Teamsters membership, in fact does not care whether officials of Local 239 or, for that matter, officials of any other segment of the Teamsters Union, are robbing, stealing, dealing under the table, or indulging in any other improper or criminal activities."

Abortion Plan Postponed by Legal Action

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—A Phoenix woman broke into tears when she learned that legal complication had halted plans to abort her three-month pregnancy.

The woman, who has taken a drug blamed for the births of numerous malformed babies in Europe, had been scheduled to enter Good Samaritan Hospital today for the operation.

"I don't know what I'll do now," she said when informed hospital administrator Stephen Morris had canceled the operation.

The woman says she took some sleeping pills containing the drug, thalidomide, during her first weeks of pregnancy. She decided on an operation after a secret three-man panel of medical specialists, recommended abortion.

Arizona law forbids abortion except to save the life of the mother.

"Everything is being held in abeyance until the legal determination is made," Morris said. "It should be cleared up in a couple of days."

The woman said Tuesday she and her husband, a high school teacher, don't want to risk bringing a malformed child into the world.

The woman, who is in her 30s, said her husband obtained the thalidomide on a trip to Europe last year. She took some of the pills after they returned to Arizona.

Soblen Asks Entry As Israel Immigrant

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—Dr. Robert Soblen's lawyer today filed an application to allow the convicted Soviet spy facing a life sentence in the United States to return to Israel as an immigrant.

The lawyer, Dr. Ari Ankorian, said he made the plea to Interior Minister Moshe Shapiro.

Soblen, 61, is in a British prison awaiting his appeal against a court judgement refusing his plea to remain in Britain.

He jumped bail in June and fled to Israel two days before he was to surrender to a New York court to begin his sentence.

Report Says Union Chief Condones Vice

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate investigations subcommittee accused James K. Hoffa, Teamsters Union president, of corrupt and continuing ties with New York mobster Antonio (Tony Ducks) Corallo.

The stinging report to the Senate today pictured Hoffa as a labor leader who doesn't care whether Teamsters aides rob and cheat the union or indulge in pay-off deals.

Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark, told the Senate he had held up filing the report for more than half a year, lest the publicity interfere with a trial of Corallo.

Corallo was convicted in June with former New York Supreme Court Justice J. Vincent Keough and Elliot Kahan, former U. S. attorney in Brooklyn, on charges of conspiring to fix a federal court criminal case.

The subcommittee's unanimous findings rejected Hoffa's sworn denial that he had sent this word to Corallo, the alleged real power in New York Teamsters Local 239.

"I don't care if you want to— you want to steal, you want to rob, go ahead. Don't get caught. Don't get caught."

New York City police telephone wiretappers had recorded the message as allegedly passed along to Corallo by Bernard Stein, another New York Hoffa aide who had just conferred in Washington with Hoffa.

"This subcommittee," the report to the Senate said, "by force of the overwhelming evidence, must conclude that Hoffa in callous disregard of the welfare of the Teamsters membership, in fact does not care whether officials of Local 239 or, for that matter, officials of any other segment of the Teamsters Union, are robbing, stealing, dealing under the table, or indulging in any other improper or criminal activities."

Chilling Image Of Berlin Wall Is Seen on TV

NEW YORK (AP)—The awesome and chilling image of the Berlin wall was brought home to Americans Tuesday night—literally—as a live telecast of the barrier dividing the city was flashed to the United States via Telstar.

The program originated in the American sector of Berlin, at Heinrich Heine-Strasse, where there is a crossing point for West Germans to enter East Berlin. It was carried by the National Broadcasting Co. as, for the first time in history, all three major American networks offered individual live television news reports from Europe.

The American Broadcasting Co. presented its chief European correspondent, Lou Cloffey, from Paris, and, diplomatic correspondent taped newscast from Geneva.

The Columbia Broadcasting System presented a live program from Paris and a part-live, part-taped newscast from Geneva.

In the NBC transmission from Berlin—120 miles behind the Iron Curtain—floodlights illuminated the barbed wire and the armed guards at the wall, while cameras picked up the image that was fed to Telstar and, ultimately, to home screens in the United States.

Severe Storm Warning Out

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The following severe weather forecast was issued today for portions of eastern and southern lower Michigan, northern Indiana and northwest and west central Ohio:

"Scattered severe thunderstorms accompanied by large hail from 2 p. m. to 8 p. m. EST, expected this Wednesday afternoon from 2 p. m. to 8 p. m. EST, in an area along and 150 miles east of a line from Alpena, Mich., to 50 miles west of Indianapolis."

providing we keep our economy healthy."

Briley opened his campaign this week after a six-week tour of Western Europe, the Middle East and Iron Curtain countries. He talked to newsmen during a breakfast session.

"If we encourage our own industries to expand and keep healthy, we'll have a good, clean competitor in the Common Market and a market of some 280 million persons for our own goods," Briley forecast.

He said economically, the Common Market is an accomplished fact and "not it's moving toward a political union."

"We must look on it as a movement toward stability in world affairs," he said, "wherein we'd have three strong powers; the Soviet nations, the Common Market nations and ourselves."

Briley said he found no lessening of U.S. prestige abroad, adding that "I always thought the (presidential) campaign charges were exaggerated."

The Toledo man accused his Democratic opponent, Sen. Frank J. Lausche, of "campaign purposes" in Lausche's unsuccessful attempt to cut off economic aid to Yugoslavia and Poland.

"Without a doubt," he said, "economic aid to these countries should be held up... but not the food shipments which have fed hungry children since 1948... they've built a tremendous reservoir of good will for us which could be of enormous importance."

'Mr. X' Held In Stock Theft

NEW YORK (AP)—Alan Jack Pomeranz, named by authorities as the mysterious "Mr. X" in the case of the $1.3-million stock theft from Bache & Co., walked into Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan's office Tuesday and gave himself up.

Pomeranz, 33, who was arrested on a charge of criminally receiving stolen property, would give interrogators no information other than his name, age and address.

But Hogan, describing Pomeranz as "a salesman of sorts who lived by his wits, a salesman of products and ideas," said "Mr. X" had contracted to dispose of the blue chip stocks stolen from the Wall Street vaults of Bache & Co.

More than $1 million worth of the stocks is still missing. Authorities said they believe Pomeranz holds the key to their whereabouts.

High-Altitude Test Shot Delayed Again

HONOLULU (AP)—The United States' second high-altitude nuclear test shot over Johnston Island is off for another 24 hours—but Tuesday night's postponement was only one-tenth as hard for scientists to make as Monday night's.

Hopes for the blast rose Tuesday as troublesome clouds drifted away, then fell when the overcast returned. Less than an hour before blastoff, Joint Task Force 8 officials looked glumly at the clouds and rescheduled the test for tonight.

Scientists delayed Monday's scheduled shot ten different times before finally knocking it back 24 hours. Clouds at 20,000 feet also foiled that operation.

There will be a general meeting of the Circleville Junior Chamber of Commerce at 8 p. m. Thursday in the club rooms at 119 S. Court St.

Report Says

on hearings it conducted in January 1961 on Hoffa, Corallo and other Teamsters figures.

It charged that the 1961 hearings showed Corallo, after ostensibly resigning as vice president and boss of Local 239, ran it from behind the scenes through "dummy" officials who did no work and who turned over to Corallo their pay checks totaling $31,000 a year.

The subcommittee said Hoffa was well aware of this, and called its evidence indisputable.

Its probe, the subcommittee said, thwarted a scheme between Hoffa and Corallo to restore to the presidency of Local 239 the convicted extortionist and bribe-taker Samuel Goldstein.

The subcommittee accused Hoffa of having fought efforts by a now disbanded federal court Board of Monitors to houseclean his union. It listed case after case to support allegations that Hoffa made no effort to clean the union.

It pointed to:
Hoffa's testimony defending his appointment of Frank Matula as an international Teamsters trustee (auditor) after Matula's 1959 conviction on perjury charges, and the fact that Matula was left in this paid job while serving his prison sentence.

The case of Anthony (Tony Pro) Provenzano, president of Teamsters Local 569 in Hoboken, N.J., promoted by Hoffa to the post of international vice president of the union in 1959 and kept in the post after being indicted in 1960 on federal labor racketeering charges.

Hoffa's refusal to oust Joseph (Joey) Gimco as president of Chicago Taxicab Local 777. Rebellious members of the union voted Gimco out of the post last year.

Hoffa's decision allowing D. Harold Gross to resign under honorable conditions as an official of New York Local 138 after conviction on income tax law violation charges, but taking no action on prior allegations that Gross had been shaking down employers.

The case of Raymond Cohen, secretary-treasurer of Philadelphia Local 107 and an international trustee, as "the classic example of the extremes to which Hoffa will go to 'acquit' officers concerning whom there was readily available evidence of forgeries, misappropriation of union funds, and other improper activities."

Failure to oust William Presser as president of Cleveland Local 555 and head of the Ohio Conference of Teamsters after Presser was convicted in 1960 of contempt of Congress and obstruction of justice.

295 Patients Are Evacuated

NEW YORK (AP)—Nuns helped evacuate 295 patients today when a fast-moving fire broke out in a loft of St. Mary's Hospital in Brooklyn.

No patient was injured. The three-alarm blaze was brought under control within 20 minutes.

Where the evacuated patients would be placed was not determined immediately. All 295 of them, including 65 newborn infants, were taken temporarily to a lawn surrounding the block-square, five-story, 77-year-old red-brick building.

Later, patients who had been on operating tables when the flames started were returned for treatment.

Cause of the blaze was not determined at once.

Thill-Seeking Youths Now Sniffing Glue

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A hangover which thrill-seeking youngsters obtain from sniffing glue vapors is giving Miami authorities a king-size headache.

Officials say the fad is extremely dangerous and can have fatal results.

"Glue sniffing" is a means discovered by juveniles, below legal drinking age, to buoy themselves up on something approximating jag.

Most popular procedure among greater Miami youths, authorities say, is to squeeze the glue from tubes into paper sacs, then hold the bags to the face and inhale.

Immediate effects include dizziness, a drunk or euphoric feeling, hallucinations or vivid dreams in color and extreme exhilaration.

Signs point to such long-range effects as loss of weight, low blood pressure, change of personality, brain and kidney damage, and death.

The state attorney's office instituted an investigation into glue sniffing several months ago after several juveniles were caught holding a "jag party" in an abandoned house.

Two weeks ago, sheriff's officers smashed five juvenile gangs in the Perrine area southwest of Miami as the result of investigation into a wave of burglaries and car thefts. Officers reported many of the 33 boys arrested had been sniffing glue.

Investigating officers said the glue sniffers did much of their burglarizing in the exhilarating stage that followed wooziness.

Church Seeks Encumbrance Of Real Estate

Trustees of Trinity Lutheran Church yesterday filed a petition for the encumbrance of real estate with Pickaway County Common Pleas Court.

The legal form was filed in connection with the church's plans for a new building. Trustees are Herbert Hammel, Harley Binkley, James Peters, Mason Young, Bertus Bennett, Gardner D. Wey, Lloyd Fisher and Mason Klingensmith.

A special congregation meeting Sunday authorized the board of trustees to borrow $225,000 on behalf of the church. The loan is to be made from the Lutheran Brotherhood Life Insurance Co. of Minnesota.

The court action is a legal formality for a valid mortgage to be given the church's insurance company.

Petitioners are seeking a court order authorizing them to encumber by mortgage the real estate owned in fee simple by the church.

'GRIEVOUS MENTAL SUFFERING'—Betsy Drake Grant and Cary Grant are shown in one of their rare reunions since their separation in 1959. Now she is suing him for divorce in Santa Monica, Calif., claiming "grievous mental suffering." Grant, 58, and Betsy, 38, were married in 1949.

DiSalle Wonders if Business In Ohio Wants U.S. Orders

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle got into the conflict over Ohio's lack of state aid government contracts today with the remark: "It is up to business whether it wants bids for that kind of work."

The governor pointed out at a news conference that in order to qualify for contracts of that sort industry must be willing to tool up, on its own, for highly technical work.

Ohio, the governor said, is in a far more stable position than California, one of the apparently favored states for space-age contracts.

"California's economy, without airplane production, would be in a state of chaos," DiSalle commented.

Referring to numerous assertions that the Midwest if suffering because of the federal government policy of awarding big research projects to Massachusetts and California, DiSalle told newsmen:

"Evidently Ohio industry is not interested at this time in such contracts. And I have yet to receive one letter from any Ohio company asserting that Ohio industry is being discriminated against."

In the course of his news conference DiSalle, Democratic candidate for re-election, fired question No. 25 at his Republican opponent, state Auditor James A. Rhodes. The question:

"Do you favor submitting additional bond issues to the people of Ohio for any purpose?"

Answering his own question, DiSalle said he would not favor any further bond issues and added: "I would like to see the day when Ohio has no bonded debt—it is possible."

In recent years Ohio voters have approved bond issues for the World War II bonus, a Korean conflict bonus, a $500 million highway construction program and a $150 million capital improvement construction program.

Rhodes, who has said he will answer DiSalle's questions during the course of the campaign, was not available for comment.

Stock Prices Still Decline

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market carried its retreat into the third straight session with trading moderate early this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon showed a fairly substantial loss as it declined 1.10 to 213.00 with industrials off 1.70, rails off .60, and utilities off .40.

Losses of most key stocks were fractional but some went to a point or so.

Some of the "growth" issues were sold rather actively. Declines ran from 1 to 4 points in this sector of the list.

The market declined from the start with trading a bit livelier than Tuesday's slow pace. There was not much in the news to stimulate the market although the Labor Department reported the consumer price index in June had edged up to a new high.

Van Smith Jr., 28, of 230 Pearl St., was fined and sentenced on two counts in Municipal Court today by Judge Sterling Lamb.

Smith was involved the two car, head-on collision on Route 23 north of Circleville late Monday that sent four people to the hospital with injuries.

Smith was fined $250 and costs, sentenced to 60 days in the county jail and had his chauffeurs license suspended for three years on the charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicants.

He was also fined $50 and costs for traveling north in the south-bound lane of traffic. Both charges were filed by the Ohio State Highway Patrol.

Other Circleville Municipal Court action included four minor traffic violations.

Ralph C. Scott, 39, Columbus, $15 and costs for speeding 75 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Allen H. Zuern, 27, Canal Winchester, $15 and costs for speeding 65 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

YOU'RE MAKING A BIG MISTAKE IF YOU'RE NOT DRINKING 80 PROOF GIN!

If you think higher proof means higher quality—that's a mistake.

If you think you have to pay more money to get a better gin—that's a mistake.

If you think the gin most Englishmen drink is more than 80 proof—that's a mistake.

You should know, to begin with, that America is practically the only civilized country in the world that drinks high-proof gin. The British, who perfected gin, know that gin has an ideal taste and flavor balance, and they prefer it at milder, smoother 80 proof. Here's the whole story:

80 PROOF GIN TASTES BETTER

"Proof" is no measure of quality. It's a measure of alcohol content alone. (100 proof means 50% alcohol.) Alcohol itself has no flavor. The pleasant taste of gin comes entirely from the herbs with which it's distilled.

The best test of gin is to drink it straight or on-the-rocks. You'll find 80 proof gin has the big taste advantage of 80 proof mildness—with the same full flavor of higher proof gins.

80 PROOF GIN COSTS LESS

Gins are taxed by the U.S. on their proof or alcohol content, only. The lower the proof—the lower the taxes, and the lower the cost to you. When you buy an imported label, you add the cost of shipping and duties. That pushes the price even higher, without giving you 80 proof quality.

80 PROOF GIN MAKES BETTER MARTINIS

It makes them extra dry, as you like them, but not extra strong. Twenty years ago, the 3-to-1 Martini was standard. Today, with the trend to dryer Martinis, they're made 6-, 7-, even 8-to-1. As a result the modern Martini has climbed from a smooth 76.5 proof to an overwhelming 84 proof! Solution? Mix with 80 proof gin. It gives you the same full, dry gin flavor, but it returns the Martini to its original, more moderate proof.

80 PROOF GIN MAKES BETTER TALL DRINKS

When you mix a tall drink, like a Collins or a gin 'n tonic, you dilute the strength of the gin "to taste." You also mix for balance of flavor. 80 proof gin will give you better balance. You don't have to drown it to drink it.

HOW TO MAKE DRY MARTINIS MAKE MORE SENSE

Using Standard 36 Proof Dry Vermouth	Using 80 Proof Dry Gin	Using 80 Proof Dry Gin (or Vodka)
3 — to — 1 (Traditional)	76.5 Proof	69.0 Proof
5 — to — 1 (Dry)	81.0 Proof	72.6 Proof
8 — to — 1 (Extra Dry)	84.0 Proof	75.1 Proof

(The "standard" proof for today's bottled Martinis is a moderate 67.5 proof!)

OLD MR. BOSTON IS THE FINEST GIN YOU CAN BUY

It's vacuum distilled at an unusually low temperature in special glass-lined stills. Only at such a low temperature, is it possible to capture the most delicate essence of the herbs. This is one reason for Old Mr. Boston's flavor distinction. It is America's first and largest-selling 80 proof Dry Gin!

Close Look at Budgets

In relation to government budgets, the world is divided into two camps: that of persons who contend budgets can be cut without sinking the ship of state, and that of individuals who say it cannot be done. Usually the inhabitants of the first camp are outside the government while those who term budget cuts impossible are inside.

Imagine the shock wave, then, when one Robert McNamara, definitely an inside-the-governmenter, started talking like an outsider. He announced the other day that he believed $3 billion could be cut from Defense Department spending.

A few days ago former President Eisenhower was widely criticized for a similar suggestion, and not many months ago Sen. Hubert Humphrey heaped scorn on a businessman who said he believed a modest $1.5 billion could be saved.

The difference between these estimates of possible savings and that of Secretary McNamara is that the latter can outline in detail, department by department, where the savings can be made. He can show that the nation's defenses will not be crippled by the cuts.

All of which suggests that it is time for other top federal, state and local officials to take a closer look at their own budgets. Some may be as tight as a drum-head, but the chances are good that many also are loose and can stand trimming.

What Is the Ideal Husband?

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—What is the ideal husband?

Many a lonely career girl and harried wife has strong ideas on this subject, ideas which strike the average man as appallingly naive and which a psychiatrist might describe as "the feminine Cinderella syndrome."

For most women cherish the secret illusion that they are hard luck Cinderellas whose merits life hasn't properly rewarded. If you melded their dreams and fancies of the perfect husband, he would turn out to be a man who:

Carries out the garbage without grumbling or even being asked to.

Bears a lock of his wife's hair in his wallet, which he takes out and stares at whenever he feels the need of inspiration.

Looks well in Bermuda shorts. Never glances at a beautiful woman without shaking his head and saying, "Gee, I'd hate to be married to someone like her."

Not only tells his wife seven times a day "I love you," but goes into detail and explains why.

Owens a paid-up cooperative penthouse apartment in Manhattan, a winter home in Palm Beach, and a cozy villa on the Isle of Capri.

Has lots and lots of lots of life insurance—made out to his wife. Has a mother who lives in Timbuktu and who wouldn't leave there for anything.

Controls his own firm, so his wife doesn't have to worry about pleasing his boss.

Instinctively knows when she feels depressed and phones her from the office to tell her, "Baby, without you my world would be nothing but a mudball."

Runs across a 50-foot drawing room to light her cigarettes, because it makes him jealous if any other man tries to enjoy this privilege.

Notifies the moment she puts on a new dress—not eight months later.

Likes to see her have fun at a cocktail party, but never takes more than a single martini himself.

Takes her to a night club or a theater opening on the maid's night out, and loves to hold her hands and look into her eyes in candlelit restaurants.

Yep, that's the faultless husband in most women's eyes.

But do you think the average wife would trade her present stingy, beat-up, money-grubbing mate for a dream husband like that?

Uh-huh! Uh-huh! And a great big yes indeed! But a fat chance they have to find one.

The Business World

EDITOR'S NOTE—The consumer may be turning cautious but at mid summer he's still doing bravely by the economy. In this, second of four articles on the state of the economy, Sam Dawson, AP business news analyst, looks at the figures on jobs, income and spending.

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—"Records set" says the headline in one column of your newspaper. "Storm signals rising" may be the adjoining heading.

The first is mathematically correct. The second can quote figures, too. And opinions today on what's ahead for businessmen and consumers are as sharply divided as the headlines seem at first glance.

As the big debate starts on whether the economy is anemic and needs some pep pills, such as a tax cut, here's a brief rundown on the latest economic blood count:

More than 69.5 million persons have jobs at the latest estimate. That tops the previous record of 68.7 million in June 1961. Most of the increase in work opportunities in recent years has been in the service industries. The old line basic industries of manufacturing, mining, farming, have shown comparatively little growth, and in some instances the number of workers has declined.

And in many manufacturing companies the number of white collar employees has grown at a much faster rate than the ranks of the blue collar, or production, workers.

The number of jobless in June was put at just under 4.5 million, or 5.5 per cent of the total labor force. But since the labor force is 285,000 smaller than a year ago although total population has grown, many observers feel that an uncounted number of persons have just given up looking for work.

If they were included, the number of jobless would be even more disturbing. Labor leaders also contend that large numbers of persons working only part time should be counted when considering how far the nation is falling behind its legally set goal of full employment.

The record number of those with jobs helped send total personal income to an annual rate of $40.4 billion in June, compared with $39.7 billion in May and $41.6 billion in June 1961. Also helping swell the total were higher interest paid on savings, larger dividends in many instances, higher rents in some places, and bigger fees for some services.

This burgeoning total of personal income gave a glow to the whole economy. Disappointing was that the month-to-month increase had grown slimmer this year.

Consumers were spending this income and taking on debt without too much signs yet of scrimping. Total retail sales in June at $19.1 billion were down $3 million from May and below the April record of $19.6 billion, but comfortably above the June 1961 figure of $17.9 billion.

Department store sales for the year to mid July were 5 per cent ahead of the like period last year. Consumer installment debt in May was $43.9 billion, up $4 million from April and $1.8 billion ahead of March, indicating the public was confident enough to take on new obligations.

On the bare statistics themselves—employment, income, consumer spending and installment buying—the economy looked fairly healthy in midsummer. It was the slowing pace of growth that worried the planners, along with some warning signals that the pace might slacken further.

"Will it work on American boys?"

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

EDITOR TOM DREIER tells about a Missouri school superintendent who chose this method to present "a picture of the world his students could understand." If, said the superintendent, the almost-three-billion persons in the world were compressed into a single town of 1000 people, the following contrasts could be seen: 60 persons would represent the U. S. A., 940 all the others. 60 Americans would receive one-half the income, 940 the other half. 303 would be white, 697 non-white. The 60 Americans would have a life expectancy of over 70, the others of under 40. The 60 Americans would consume 15 per cent of the town's food supply, and the lowest income group of the Americans would be better off than the average of the 940. The 60 Americans would have 12 times as much electricity, 22 times as much coal, 21 times as much oil, 50 times as much steel, and 50 times as much equipment as all 940 remaining members of the town. Still feeling sorry for yourselves?

On a transcontinental plane trip, somebody asked a chewing-gum tycoon why he continued to advertise so extensively, when his business already was a fantastic success. "For the same reason," he replied, "that the pilot of this plane keeps the engines running when we're already 29,000 feet up in the air."

A well-travelled barfly was telling Boniface Toots Shor about the restaurant at the Seattle Fair that revolves. "Stick around," boomed Toots. "I can do the same thing for you right here."

Jack Fuller discovered a rare two-volume edition of the Essays of Montaigne that evidently never had been opened, since the pages were still unlined. "Oh, yes," nodded the bookseller, "this is the uncuttest kind of all."

Folk who must double up on work because of vacation absenteeism can sympathize with Cleveland's Mayor Anthony Celebrezze who has just been appointed U.S. Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

McCrackin Founds His New Church

CINCINNATI (AP) — Even though it has no building and not even a name so far, the Rev. Maurice F. McCrackin has a church once more.

The 57-year-old suspended Presbyterian minister founded the new church Sunday at the concrete-walled chapel room of the West End YMCA, a few blocks from his former West Cincinnati - St. Barnabas parish.

About 80 people attended services Sunday and 53 signed up as members. Many of them were members of McCrackin's old church, where quite a few people still hope the militantly pacifist minister will be reinstated.

The pulpit at West Cincinnati - St. Barnabas was declared vacant earlier this year after the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church upheld McCrackin's suspension.

McCrackin has refused to pay income tax because he says part of the money is used for warlike purposes.

Corny Ex Sentimentality

By George Sokolsky

The 1962 Congressional Election must indicate better than any poll what the sentiment of the people is. If the Democrats hold on to the Senate and the House of Representatives, it means that, although the country may not accept the entire Kennedy program, it does not reject him.

The campaign starts early. In California the Brown-Nixon fight is well on its way. In Massachusetts, interest centers on the battle between Ted Kennedy and George Lodge. In Connecticut, Abraham Ribicoff, who resigned from the Cabinet to run for the Senate, is the center of party battle.

In New York State, the Republicans have their candidates, Nelson Rockefeller for re-election as Governor and Jacob Javits for re-election as United States Senator. The Democrats have no candidate. Every other day, a trial balloon is sent up, but they have all proved abortive.

To show how impractical the Democrats are, a trial balloon was recently sent aloft for Judge Bernard Botwin, Chief Justice of the local Supreme Court. Judge Botwin is an able man, with a splendid local reputation. He is highly respected. Judge Botwin is Jewish; so is Arthur Levitt, the State Comptroller and the only Democrat elected in 1958 when Rockefeller was chosen as Governor.

It is impossible to drop Levitt without political casualties; it is impractical to have two Jews on a ticket which must also include an Irish Catholic, an Italian and a Negro. Furthermore, as soon as Judge Botwin becomes a candidate, even for the nomination, he must resign his judicial office. Governor Rockefeller would immediately appoint the able and respected Judge Charles Breitler as Chief of the newly reorganized Courts, which would give the Republicans control of the Courts.

The Democrats in New York are split among Old Timers, New Dealers, Reformers and Kennedies. Into this situation steps an astute labor leader, Alex Rose, head of the Liberal Party. Rose is unusual. He has a broad understanding of national interests; he is not subject to extremist pressures. Secure in his position and status, he moves wisely among the squabbling factions not only with the assurance that he can deliver the Liberal Party vote but also with the assurance that he can deliver the Liberal Party vote but also with the knowledge that when there is a leadership vacuum, wise men turn to a respected person for leadership. Alex Rose may turn out to be the catalyst among the fighting Democrats.

Two dark horses appear in this situation. Frank Hogan, long bipartisan District Attorney of New York, is definitely a candidate if the party is willing. There is not one thing that can be said against Frank Hogan. But the question is asked: can he defeat Governor Nelson Rockefeller? His partisans say, yes; others say, no.

The other dark horse is James A. Farley, former Postmaster General and one of the most popular human beings in New York State. It is generally agreed that many Republicans, unhappy about Rockefeller, would vote for Farley. The principal objection to Farley is that he is 74 years of age, but a man who can attend about 120 public dinners a year and travel all over the world for the Coca-Cola Company has an intestinal fortitude which many a younger man would envy.

I cite these instances as examples of what a President's — any President's — fate may depend upon. If Nixon carries California and Rockefeller carries New York, the contest between them will strengthen Kennedy. If Rockefeller carries New York but Nixon fails in California, Rockefeller will be the Republican candidate against Kennedy. It is this eventuality which the Democrats wish to avoid.

The defeat of the Medicare Bill may be the most fortunate occurrence for the Kennedy Administration. The various historians attached to this Administration think in broad national terms; politics is the art of controlling men — in the United States, on a local level. The obstetricians who delivered every man and woman in his village during the past 50 years is politically more powerful than the President of the United States, perhaps by a ratio of 300 to one.

A well-tempered politician understands this and in a representative republic adjusts his thinking to such a reality. Attacking the American Medical Association has not meaning; it is the kindly, willing Dr. John Smith who is being attacked — the man who brought a community into the world in a short life-time; it is the man who saved Bill's neck and Tom's leg. Corny sentimentality! That is politics.

U.S. To Slow Its Pullout From Laos

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States will take its time withdrawing some 750 military advisers from Laos, officials indicated Tuesday.

"We'll want some pretty good assurances from the International Control Commission that the North Vietnamese have started to pull out before we move," one source said.

Under a 14-nation agreement signed Monday at Geneva, all foreign elements must be removed from Laos within 75 days, or nearly that long, depending on what the other side does about withdrawing its military forces.

The Geneva agreement designed to seal off Laos from the cold war gives the three-nation control commission the job of monitoring the military pullout of Western and Communist groups.

Red North Viet Nam is reported to have sent as many as 10,000 of its trained fighting men into Laos to help the pro-Communist Pathet Lao in their rebellion against a pro-Western government.

There is concern here that any North Vietnamese troops withdrawn from Laos may be shifted into South Viet Nam to help the Communist guerrillas there.

Close Look at Budgets

In relation to government budgets, the world is divided into two camps: that of persons who contend budgets can be cut without sinking the ship of state, and that of individuals who say it cannot be done. Usually the inhabitants of the first camp are outside the government while those who term budget cuts impossible are inside.

Imagine the shock wave, then, when one Robert McNamara, definitely an inside-the-governmenter, started talking like an outsider. He announced the other day that he believed $3 billion could be cut from Defense Department spending.

A few days ago former President Eisenhower was widely criticized for a similar suggestion, and not many months ago Sen. Hubert Humphrey heaped scorn on a businessman who said he believed a modest $1.5 billion could be saved.

The difference between these estimates of possible savings and that of Secretary McNamara is that the latter can outline in detail, department by department, where the savings can be made. He can show that the nation's defenses will not be crippled by the cuts.

All of which suggests that it is time for other top federal, state and local officials to take a closer look at their own budgets. Some may be as tight as a drumhead, but the chances are good that many also are loose and can stand trimming.

What Is the Ideal Husband?

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—What is the ideal husband?

Many a lonely career girl and harried wife has strong ideas on this subject, ideas which strike the average man as appallingly naive and which a psychiatrist might describe as "the feminine Cinderella syndrome."

For most women cherish the secret illusion that they are hard luck Cinderellas whose meritorious life hasn't properly rewarded. If you melted their dreams and fancies of the perfect husband, he would turn out to be a man who:

Carries out the garbage without grumbling or even being asked to.

Bears a lock of his wife's hair in his wallet, which he takes out and stares at whenever he feels the need of inspiration.

Looks well in Bermuda shorts.

Never glances at a beautiful woman without shaking his head and saying, "Gee, I'd hate to be married to someone like her."

Not only tells his wife seven times a day "I love you," but goes into detail and explains why.

Owens a paid-up cooperative penthouse apartment in Manhattan, a winter home in Palm Beach, and a cozy villa on the Isle of Capri.

Has lots and lots of lots of life insurance—made out to his wife. Has a mother who lives in Timbuktu and who wouldn't leave there for anything.

Controls his own firm, so his wife doesn't have to worry about pleasing his boss.

Instinctively knows when she feels depressed and phones her from the office to tell her, "Baby, without you my world would be nothing but a mudball."

Runs across a 50-foot drawing room to light her cigarettes, because it makes him jealous if any other man tries to enjoy this privilege.

Notifies the moment she puts on a new dress—not eight months later.

Likes to see her have fun at a cocktail party, but never takes more than a single martini himself.

Takes her to a night club or a theater opening on the maid's night out, and loves to hold her hands and look into her eyes in candlelit restaurants.

Yep, that's the faultless husband in most women's eyes.

But do you think the average wife would trade her present stinky, beat-up, money-grubbing mate for a dream husband like that?

Uh-huh! Uh-huh! And a great big yes indeed! But a fat chance they have to find one.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

EDITOR'S NOTE—The consumer may be turning cautious but at mid summer he's still doing bravely by the economy. In this, second of four articles on the state of the economy, Sam Dawson, AP business news analyst, looks at the figures on jobs, income and spending.

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—"Records set" says the headline in one column of your newspaper. "Storm signals rising" may be the adjoining heading.

The first is mathematically correct. The second can quote figures, too. And opinions today on what's ahead for businessmen and consumers are as sharply divided as the headlines seem at first glance.

As the big debate starts on whether the economy is anemic and needs some pep pills, such as a tax cut, here's a brief rundown on the latest economic blood count:

More than 69.5 million persons have jobs at the latest estimate. That tops the previous record of 68.7 million in June 1961. Most of the increase in job opportunities in recent years has been in the service industries. The old line basic industries of manufacturing, mining, farming, have shown comparatively little growth, and in some instances the number of workers has declined.

And in many manufacturing companies the number of white collar employees has grown at a much faster rate than the ranks of the blue collar, or production, workers.

The number of jobless in June was put at just under 4.5 million, or 5.5 per cent of the total labor force. But since the labor force is 285,000 smaller than a year ago although total population has grown, many observers feel that an uncounted number of persons have just given up looking for work.

If they were included, the number of jobless would be even more disturbing. Labor leaders also contend that large numbers of persons working only part time should be counted when considering how far the nation is falling behind its legally set goal of full employment.

The record number of those with jobs helped send total personal income to an annual rate of $440.4 billion in June, compared with $439.7 billion in May and $416 billion in June 1961. Also helping swell the total were higher interest paid on savings, larger dividends in many instances, higher rents in some places, and bigger fees for some services.

This burgeoning total of personal income gave a glow to the whole economy. Disappointing was that the month-to-month increase had grown slimmer this year.

Consumers were spending this income and taking on debt without too much signs yet of scrimping. Total retail sales in June at $19.1 billion were down $3 million from May and below the April record of $19.6 billion, but comfortably above the June 1961 figure of $17.9 billion.

Department store sales for the year to mid July were 5 per cent ahead of the like period last year. Consumer installment debt in May was $43.9 billion, up $4 million from April and $1.8 billion ahead of March, indicating the public was confident enough to take on new obligations.

On the bare statistics themselves—employment, income, consumer spending and installment buying—the economy looked fairly healthy in midsummer. It was the slowing pace of growth that worried the planners, along with some warning signals that the pace might slacken further.

"Will it work on American boys?"

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

EDITOR TOM DREIER tells about a Missouri school superintendent who chose this method to present "a picture of the world his students could understand." If, said the superintendent, the almost-three-billion persons in the world were compressed into a single town of 1000 people, the following contrasts could be seen: 60 persons would represent the U. S. A., 940 all the others. 60 Americans would receive one-half the income, 940 the other half. 303 would be white, 697 non-white. The 60 Americans would have a life expectancy of over 70, the others of under 40. The 60 Americans would consume 15 per cent of the town's food supply, and the lowest income group of the Americans would be better off than the average of the 940. The 60 Americans would have 12 times as much electricity, 22 times as much coal, 21 times as much oil, 50 times as much steel, and 50 times as much equipment as all 940 remaining members of the town. Still feeling sorry for yourselves?

On a transcontinental plane trip, somebody asked a chewing-gum tycoon why he continued to advertise so extensively, when his business already was a fantastic success. "For the same reason," he replied, "that the pilot of this plane keeps the engines running when we're already 29,000 feet up in the air."

A well-travelled barfly was telling Boniface Toots Shor about the restaurant at the Seattle Fair that revolves. "Stick around," boomed Toots. "I can do the same thing for you right here."

Jack Fuller discovered a rare two-volume edition of the Essays of Montaigne that evidently never had been opened, since the pages were still unslipped. "Oh, yes," nodded the bookseller, "this is the uncuttest kind of all."

Coffee Mugs The Latest In Informal Tableware

By ELEANOR ROSS

Have you joined that large brigade which has discovered the coffee mug?

Coffee never tastes better than when it is sipped from a sturdy easy - to - grasp mug. Somehow, there's something about a mug that connotes the warmth and friendly cheer of a country kitchen.

While delicate porcelain cups seem to belong to gleaming silver on a lace-covered table, mugs strike just the right note of happy informality for a neighborhood kaffeeklatch or a solitary mid-morning coffee break in the kitchen.

Incidentally, such textured surfaces are not difficult to wash - if you keep a vegetable brush or a percolator brush handy at dishwashing time. Then, simply dip the brush into your dishpan of hot sudsy water and scrub all over the raised designs, the cheery mugs will be sparkling and sanitary again in seconds.

Still more attractive coffee mug designs include an all-over flower pattern in orange, yellow and blue. Or you might prefer one that is bright yellow inside, with pineapple motifs on the outside.

You don't have to worry about the bright colors fading away in time, either. All of these attractive mugs are designed to withstand countless washings in hot suds.

By the way, a set of six or eight matched or assorted mugs makes a wonderful gift for any homemaker, beginner or established.

And, don't forget, the mugs are fine for a soup break, too.

Give Your Plain China New Mark of Distinction

By ELEANOR ROSS

Most of us own at least one set of glassware that, while pretty in shape, just seems too plain. Same goes for many a pottery jug or metal canister that seems to cry out for a touch of decoration.

Before throwing these things away or burying them on the top shelf in a cupboard because you just hate to part with them, consider restyling them instead - with a special washable paint made specifically to decorate glassware, pottery, china and metal. Here's a wonderful opportunity to indulge that yen to achieve a custom-made look in home furnishings.

Add a touch of elegance to goblets by painting your monogram on the side or write the name of each member of the family on a set of water glasses, perhaps using favorite colors.

Another nice idea is to create a colorful pattern of fruits, flowers or geometric motifs on tumblers and dessert dishes to blend with your loveliest place mats. Just remember that vertical designs emphasize height, while horizontal designs accentuate width.

The same technique lends itself well to pottery, canisters and to the apothecary jars which are so pretty and so practical for any room.

The technique is easy enough. It just involves mixing colors, if you wish, and applying the special paint with a small brush.

The designs should be allowed to dry for several hours before use.

There's no need to worry about what happens to this lovely handiwork once it is used and soiled. This paint-craft can be washed repeatedly. Just wash each piece by hand in warm suds and rinse.

The manufacturer recommends that brushes be given a final cleaning with turpentine, followed by washing with suds and water before putting away. This avoids stiffening of the brushes.

Pointers on Polishing Your Leather Shoes

By ELEANOR ROSS

In love with your new leather shoes?

Keep the romance bright with a minimum of care and good shoe polish.

The new shoes are made with modern American leathers that keep their lustre and flexibility under most circumstances. However, with summer's thunder showers, there will be some occasions when your shoes will need freshening.

The best time, say experts in such matters, is to polish your shoes as soon as you can after you remove them. A little care at your leisure will keep each pair in tip-top shape, always ready for use.

If your shoes are soiled or muddy, though, first let them dry, then remove the dried mud with a soft brush. Apply polish and, if its paste or cream, buff well.

If your shoes are rain-soaked, let them dry thoroughly before attempting to clean them. Stuff shoes with newspapers to absorb moisture and hold the shape.

Shoe polish contains oils and waxes similar to those tanned into the leather. The added waxes and oils replace those lost in your battle with the elements - and keep your shoes soft and supple, as well as beautiful.

Try to match the color of your shoe polish to the leather color and, with the wide range of special polishes now available, that shouldn't be too difficult. But if you can't match the color, use a neutral cream or wax.

If the leather sole is a different color from the leather upper - and it frequently is in the new shoe designs - remember to apply a neutral polish or the proper color to the sides of the sole.

Be certain that the polish you select carries a reputable brand name. Choose the consistency of shoe polish you desire - it will do the job equally well whether its a cream, paste or liquid.

For children's shoes that have been badly scuffed, most manufacturers recommend a liquid shoe polish. This covers the scuff marks and renews the leather with a minimum of effort on your part.

Tax-Cheating Trial Near End In Kentucky

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Lengthy final statements by both sides have wrapped up arguments in the government's case against eight men accused of cheating on federal taxes on numbers racket operations.

Judge Mac Swinford was to give the case to the all-male jury today after his final comments.

Defense attorneys attacked the government's evidence over nearly four weeks of testimony, contending Tuesday that U.S. attorneys had blown up half truths all out of proportion.

The government has contended defendant Frank Screw Andrews was the head of a numbers racket empire in Northern Kentucky and greater Cincinnati, landlaid at the Newport night club which the government says was center of the operations.

The other defendants are Willard Whitely, Gus Postell, Peter Andrews, Frank Andriola, Louis Tye, Russell Malone and Walter Andrews.

Dear Abby: Selfish Attitude!

DEAR ABBY: You're all wrong about a husband owing his wife and children protection through life insurance. He owes his children security in the event of his death, but why his wife? Since when does a woman need lifelong protection? She should go back to being self-supporting the same as before marriage. If a man has no children (or if they are grown) he is nuts to insure himself, because statistics shows that women are outliving men by 7 to 10 year, and she will be out living it up while he pushes up tulips. Marriage is a contract between two LIVING people, not a meal ticket for a woman with or without a husband. Your statement needs retraction.

NOT INSURED

DEAR NOT: Where is the average widow, age 50, going to get a "job"? Most women have spent the best years of their lives running a home and raising a family, and are "out of training" or ill equipped to support themselves. What would you suggest? The glue factory?

DEAR ABBY: I met a man where I work and fell for him hard. He told me he was divorced. I have heard that he is not divorced, only separated, from his wife. He spends a lot of time at her place but says it's because of the kids. How can I find out for sure if he is living under the same roof with her?

MYRTLE

DEAR MYRTLE: Raise it!

DEAR ABBY: Where do you get off telling people it is "proper" for them to knit in company? No lady knits when she is a hostess or guest, for she must give her full attention to others. Knitting requires concentration (a knitter must count stitches) and no one can do justice to a conversation while knitting. If someone wants to be good company, she should leave her knitting home.

AN ABBY READER

DEAR READER: Being no knitter, I cannot speak from experience, but I have seen women knitting in theatres and while watching television and they do it without dropping a stitch or a word or a hint of bad manners.

Picture Telephone Seems To Be Around the Corner

Jean Humphrey of Chicago tries out the new picture phone at the Museum of Science and Industry. Arrow points to picture of person she is calling.

By JOHN F. SEMBOWER
Central Press Association
Correspondent

CHICAGO — How badly do you want a "picture telephone," the kind that actually lets you see the person you are talking to, while he sees you? Or are you a little like milady, who is afraid that she will not be able to answer any phone calls before she has fixed her hair and donned her makeup?

The Bell system currently is making tests to find out. It has installed a demonstration device here at the Museum of Science and Industry, along with other "telephones of tomorrow," and the "picture phone" could be the next big advance.

A picture telephone has been a haunting dream of the future almost from the day 86 years ago when Alexander Graham Bell invented the telephone itself. The dream really antedated television itself, and at one time it was generally anticipated that the two would come along simultaneously.

However, television now has a huge lead, including close-circuit TV which is somewhat like the picture phone. Bell engineers have been able to install thoroughly practical sets of this type, however, since 1957, and visitors to the museum can converse with friends in the next room over one today.

No other "telephone of tomorrow" has registered the impact upon the public that the picture phone has. Mainly the others consist of pushbutton instead of dial sets, and telephones that are so compact that you hold the entire set in your hand. All these can be built and installed on a mass scale today, too.

One of the quirks about telephone users which the experimenters uncovered in tests is that not only do they want to see the other person, but also to see themselves! This reincarnation of the fairy tale illusion of "picture, picture on the call!" stems from the fact that each caller wants "to see himself as others see him."

SHE'S A HE—"Diane Adams," 32, an attractive legal stenographer in Toronto, is seen in the black sheath dress in which "she" appeared in court on a charge of criminal negligence after a car crash. Due to the arrest, "Diane" was found to be actually Clifford Cayer, a man.

Farmers' Net Income Up by 2 Pct. in '62

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department estimates farmers' net income during the first half of 1962 at an annual rate of $12.8 billion, up about 2 per cent over the same period last year.

Net income is the amount left after paying production costs. The rate for the first half of the year was about the same, however, as that for the last half of 1961.

A farm market report said cash receipts in the first half of this year were 2 per cent higher than a year earlier. Returns for crops were up, largely reflecting higher prices, while receipts from livestock and livestock products were down slightly.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A 2 per cent increase in red meat production during the last half of 1962 is forecast by the Agriculture Department.

A farm market report said an increase in beef supplies will more than offset declines in production of pork, lamb and mutton compared with the last half of 1961.

Poultry production is expected to decline with a 5 per cent reduction indicated in per capita turkey supplies. Per capita turkey supplies in prospect for the September-December period may be down about 12 per cent from a year earlier, reflecting a smaller crop this year.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Government sales of corn under its emergency feed grain program have fallen to a very low level in recent weeks.

Last week they totaled only 1,556,000 bushels and the week before Oct. 1 they had averaged nearly 22 million bushels a week.

Sixth Planeload Of Ohio Airmen Back from France

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The sixth planeload of 55 Ohio airmen and officers returning from Etain Air Base, France, landed on schedule Tuesday as the daily planeloads continue to split the ranks of the 121st Tactical Fighter Squadron—placing nearly 350 in Ohio, some 500 still in France.

As has become the daily order of affairs at nearby Lockbourne Air Force Base, happiness reigned when the big Air Force plane touched down. There were smiles, hugs, kisses and some tears for the returning airmen, who have been in France since last October.

A planeload a day is to arrive at Lockbourne until Aug. 11 when the Ohio Air National Guardsmen all are scheduled to be home from their overseas tour of duty. They will remain on active duty at Lockbourne until Aug. 20.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower got a lot more help from the Democrats in Congress in his first 18 months than the Republicans have given President Kennedy.

Eisenhower said thanks to the Democrats in public. Kennedy is beginning to lean on the Republicans. They expressed themselves in different ways.

Twice — after the 1953 congressional session and again after the one in 1954 — Eisenhower in broadcasts to the people reported gratefully how Congress treated his programs.

Kennedy has never made such a report. He had practically no criticism of the Republicans last year. But now he's getting heated although only in news conferences. The one this week was an example.

There's political irony, and embarrassment for Kennedy, in the two situations.

In Eisenhower's first two years Republicans so thinly outnumbered Democrats that the latter, if they had been so-minded, with the help of just a few Republican deserters, could have been a wrecking crew.

Under Kennedy the Democrats in Congress enormously outnumbered Republicans. By voting together, they could have rammed through any Kennedy program, even if Republicans solidly voted against. The Democrats didn't stick together.

Whole batches of them deserted party ranks to join the Republicans, who—unlike the Democrats in Eisenhower's time — have ganged up to annihilate most of the President's projects.

In his broadcasts Eisenhower, like a typical politician, didn't want to give the Democrats any unnecessary advertising. So, even while praising them, he avoided mentioning Democrats by name.

In 1953 he praised the "unprecedented unity that crosses party lines" and the "high sense of duty" in the Congress he dealt with.

Actually, the Democrats beat him to it in claiming credit for help.

Lyndon B. Johnson, now vice president but then Democratic leader in the Senate, said: "Practically every major item of the President's program" had been supported by the Democrats and much of it "could not have been passed without the Democrats."

Eisenhower's broadcast gratitude in 1954 was politically remarkable, coming as it did at the start of that year's congressional election campaigns.

He said he saluted Congress for its work and its "almost unprecedented coordination between

Beauty Competition Said 'Cattle Contest'

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—The recent Miss Universe contest in Miami, Fla., was more like a cattle contest than a beauty competition, said Miss South Africa on her return today.

Lynette, who is a cousin of Hollywood dancer Juliet Prowse, failed to reach the finals at Miami.

House and Senate." He was particularly thankful for the "cooperation between Congress and the White House."

He claimed "54 hits" out of 61 "legislative projects" for a "batting average of .830."

The elections that year were tremendously important—and, as it turned out, fateful—for the Republicans because in 1954 this was the party lineup in Congress:

In the Senate—48 Democrats, 47 Republicans, one independent; in the House—219 Republicans, 215 Democrats, and one independent.

That year the Republicans lost control of Congress to the Democrats, who have beaten them in every election since.

Now this is the lineup in the Democratic-run Congress Kennedy deals with: in the Senate—64 Democrats, 35 Republicans, on vacancy; in the House—262 Democrats, 174 Republicans, one vacancy.

Kennedy—as his legislative frustrations pile up — is increasingly caustic about the Republicans and is even getting a little critical of the Democrats who joined the Republicans against him.

His criticism comes just as the 1962 congressional election campaigns get under way.

At his news conference this week, he said Republicans, with very few exceptions, had "opposed every measure that we put forward" and were "joined by some Democrats who, for a great many years, have opposed a good many Democratic programs."

He sounded wistful as he said: "Now we don't get any Republicans any more for any measure" —except for foreign ones like aid and trade— "and even there the (Republican) leadership opposed us."

CARE Director Heads Food Agency

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today appointed Richard W. Reuter, now executive director of CARE, as director of the U.S. Food for Peace Program.

Reuter, 44, of New York, has been with CARE since 1946.

In addition to his post with the private relief organization, which ships food and supplies to needy overseas areas, Reuter is a vice chairman of the American Council of Voluntary Agencies for Foreign Service.

PROTESTS IN PERU—Two women demonstrators against the military junta's seizure of the government in Peru argue with a policeman in Lima. They were among women who, garbed in black and carrying prayer books, marched from Mercy Church to the tomb of Jose de San Martin, liberator of Peru, in protest. Police dispersed the marchers with tear gas and jets of green-colored water. (Rodolpho)

Clarification Of Prayer Rule Is Predicted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Justice Department official defended the recent U.S. Supreme Court "prayer" decision here Tuesday and predicted further decisions will "clarify" the court's stand.

Keynoting the annual Institute on Human Relations at Ohio State University, Arthur B. Caldwell, chief of the trial staff in the Justice Department's Civil Rights Division, also "pointed with pride" to recent progress toward equal treatment for Negroes.

Defending the Supreme Court decision which held the state of New York may not require recitation in public schools of a prayer prepared by state officials, Caldwell declared:

"The court has been violently attacked by many persons claiming the decision is hostile to religion. But a careful reading of the opinion reveals it does not attack religion in any sense.

"Rather, it reflects deep religious conviction... the conviction embodied in the First and Fourteenth Amendments, that the governments of this nation, both state and federal, should say out of the business of writing or sanctioning official prayers."

He said the high court undoubtedly will make further decisions in similar cases now before it which will clarify its position.

In speaking of civil rights, Caldwell delineated between rights in general and those expressly left to the protection of the federal government.

Describing federal action toward securing voting rights for all citizens, Caldwell pointed to improved Negro registration in counties of Alabama, Tennessee and Louisiana.

The Institute, which continues through Friday, has taken the title, "Civil Rights in a Pluralistic Society" and is looking at the problem from several view points.

U.N. Group Set To Snub Red China

PARIS (AP)—A U.N. committee on cultural affairs has closed the door to any indirect appearance of Red China in the United Nations, it was disclosed today.

The committee is one dealing with a convention on the preservation of mankind's cultural heritage in case of war. UNESCO—the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization sponsored the international convention.

On a motion by the French delegate, Louis-Philippe May, the committee voted 18-11 Monday that observers from nonsignatory countries can attend its sessions only if invited by UNESCO's acting secretary-general following a proposal by the UNESCO executive board. The Red bloc is heavily outnumbered in the 24-man board.

The effect of this was to nullify a previous committee decision to drop restrictions on the nationality of observers. The committee's original ground rules limited observers to countries which are already members of the U.N. or UNESCO. The committee last week removed the limitation — an action which, as U.S. observer Max Isenbergh pointed out, would allow even the Red Chinese to send an observer.

He Starts Acting Career At 35, is Whopping Success

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It is not given to many men to find a totally new career at age 35 and to make a whopping success of it. Just that has happened to Telly Savalas, a man with an improbable name and a face to match. He has worked steadily in the two and a half years since he turned actor, and he may well be the favorite for next year's supporting-actor Oscar.

You have only to see "Birdman of Alcatraz" to see what we're talking about. Telly (short for the Greek version of Aristotle) plays the con in the next cell, and his comedy brightens the otherwise stolid theme.

Telly performs like a veteran, which he isn't.

He was a Garden City, Long Island boy, who enlisted in the war, ended up 60 per cent disabled. He came back after a long hospitalization, studied psychology until he became disenchanted with it, got a job with the State Department helping to improve the American image overseas.

Born to Greek immigrants, he spoke Greek well, understood Turkish and other Middle East cultures. His work prompted a job as a news producer at ABC, then he resigned to raise funds for a little theater project in Stamford, Conn.

Raising the cash was easy, making the theater go wasn't. The enterprise ended in disaster, and Telly retired to the home of an aunt in Garden City to hide from his creditors. She persuaded him to get active in community life. Among other things, he taught in adult education.

One day a phone call came from a television casting agent, who said she knew he had worked with foreigners; could he find an old man with a heavy accent to play a small role as a judge? He said he could and he enlisted a friend.

Next day the agent called to complain that the man hadn't shown up. Telly said he would take care of it. He couldn't reach his friend, so he appeared for the interview himself, faking a heavy accent. He was hastily accepted.

He was summoned to the office of the show's producer, David Suskind. "I understand you speak English very well," Suskind said. "Yes," Telly admitted. He was then offered the leading role in "Witness," the short-lived series on actual trials.

He has worked ever since, in television and then in films like "Young Savages," "Birdman," "Cape Fear," "The Interns," "The Grand Duke and Mr. Pimm," and now "The Man from the Diner's Club" with Danny Kaye.

Thug Stabs Woman in Capital Church

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mary Lou Kosterlitzky knelt in solitary prayer at the altar of St. Peter's Roman Catholic church, just two blocks from the Capitol.

Suddenly there was a man behind her. "Keep quiet," he said, "and you won't get hurt."

Miss Kosterlitzky pleaded, "I'll give you my money. Please don't hurt me. I am not well."

The 45-year-old congressional secretary said the man grabbed her by the arm and forced her to walk to a confessional where he choked her, stabbed her nine times in the back and hand, and stole $7.

She was taken to Casualty Hospital, her condition reported as serious. She described her assailant as a 6-foot Negro, 20 to 25.

Miss Kosterlitzky's boss, Rep. Frank Becker, R-N.Y., took the House floor to tell of the attack and robbery Monday afternoon.

"We have reached a point where a human being can't even go to church and pray with safety," he said. "It is a disgrace to the nation that this should happen in our capital city."

DP&L Linemen Killed By High Tension Wire

RICHMOND, Ind. (AP)—A lineman for the Dayton Power & Light Co. was electrocuted Tuesday when he brushed against a 12,000-volt high-tension wire in nearby Preble County, Ohio.

The victim is Joseph C. Newkirk, 41, Eaton, Ohio.

Newkirk was repairing a downed line in Sugar Valley, between Richmond and Eaton, Ohio, at the time.

Company officials said Newkirk was an experienced lineman and had been with the company for 14 years.

PROTESTS IN PERU—Two women demonstrators against the military junta's seizure of the government in Peru argue with a policeman in Lima. They were among women who, garbed in black and carrying prayer books, marched from Mercy Church to the tomb of Jose de San Martin, liberator of Peru, in protest. Police dispersed the marchers with tear gas and jets of green-colored water. (Radiophoto)

Clarification Of Prayer Rule Is Predicted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Justice Department official defended the recent U.S. Supreme Court "prayer" decision here Tuesday and predicted further decisions will "clarify" the court's stand.

Keynoting the annual Institute on Human Relations at Ohio State University, Arthur B. Caldwell, chief of the trial staff in the Justice Department's Civil Rights Division, also "pointed with pride" to recent progress toward equal treatment for Negroes.

Defending the Supreme Court decision which held the state of New York may not require recitation in public schools of a prayer prepared by state officials, Caldwell declared.

"The court has been violently attacked by many persons claiming the decision is hostile to religion. But a careful reading of the opinion reveals it does not attack religion in any sense.

"Rather, it reflects deep religious conviction... the conviction embodied in the First and Fourteenth Amendments, that the governments of this nation, both state and federal, should say out of the business of writing or sanctioning official prayers."

He said the high court undoubtedly will make further decisions in similar cases now before it which will clarify its position. In speaking of civil rights, Caldwell delineated between rights in general and those expressly left to the protection of the federal government.

Describing federal action toward securing voting rights for all citizens, Caldwell pointed to improved Negro registration in counties of Alabama, Tennessee and Louisiana.

The Institute, which continues through Friday, has taken the title, "Civil Rights in a Pluralistic Society" and is looking at the problem from several view points.

U.N. Group Set To Snub Red China

PARIS (AP)—A U.N. committee on cultural affairs has closed the door to any indirect appearance of Red China in the United Nations, it was disclosed today.

The committee is one dealing with a convention on the preservation of mankind's cultural heritage in case of war. UNESCO—the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization sponsored the international convention.

On a motion by the French delegate, Louis-Philippe May, the committee voted 18-11 Monday that observers from nonsignatory countries can attend its sessions only if invited by UNESCO's acting secretary-general following a proposal by the UNESCO executive board. The Red bloc is heavily outnumbered in the 24-man board.

The effect of this was to nullify a previous committee decision to drop restrictions on the nationality of observers. The committee's original ground rules limited observers to countries which are already members of the U.N. or UNESCO. The committee last week removed the limitation — an action which, as U.S. observer Max Isenbergh pointed out, would allow even the Red Chinese to send an observer.

He Starts Acting Career At 35, is Whopping Success

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It is not given to many men to find a totally new career at age 35 and to make a whopping success of it. Just that has happened to Telly Savalas, a man with an improbable name and a face to match. He has worked steadily in the two and a half years since he turned actor, and he may well be the favorite for next year's supporting-actor Oscar.

You have only to see "Birdman of Alcatraz" to see what we're talking about. Telly (short for the Greek version of Aristotle) plays the con in the next cell, and his comedy brightens the otherwise stolid theme.

Telly performs like a veteran, which he isn't.

He was a Garden City, Long Island boy, who enlisted in the war, ended up 60 per cent disabled. He came back after a long hospitalization, studied psychology until he became disenchanted with it, got a job with the State Department helping to improve the American image overseas.

Born to Greek immigrants, he spoke Greek well, understood Turkish and other Middle East cultures. His work prompted a job as a news producer at ABC, then he resigned to raise funds for a little theater project in Stamford, Conn.

Raising the cash was easy, making the theater go wasn't. The enterprise ended in disaster, and Telly retired to the home of an aunt in Garden City to hide from his creditors. She persuaded him to get active in community life. Among other things, he taught in adult education.

One day a phone call came from a television casting agent, who said she knew he had worked with foreigners; could he find an old man with a heavy accent to play a small role as a judge? He said he could and he enlisted a friend.

Next day the agent called to complain that the man hadn't shown up. Telly said he would take care of it. He couldn't reach his friend, so he appeared for the interview himself, faking a heavy accent. He was hastily accepted.

He was summoned to the office of the show's producer, David Suskind. "I understand you speak English very well," Suskind said. "Yes," Telly admitted. He was then offered the leading role in "Witness," the short-lived series on actual trials.

He has worked ever since, in television and then in films like "Young Savages," "Birdman," "Cape Fear," "The Interns," "The Grand Duke and Mr. Pimm," and now "The Man from the Diner's Club" with Danny Kaye.

DP&L Linemen Killed By High Tension Wire

RICHMOND, Ind. (AP)—A lineman for the Dayton Power & Light Co. was electrocuted Tuesday when he brushed against a 12,000-volt high-tension wire in nearby Preble County, Ohio.

The victim is Joseph C. Newkirk, 41, Eaton, Ohio. Newkirk was repairing a downed line in Sugar Valley, between Richmond and Eaton, Ohio, at the time.

Company officials said Newkirk was an experienced lineman and had been with the company for 14 years.

Support Rate Is Set for '62 Soybeans

Prices for 1962-crop soybeans in Pickaway County will be supported at $2.24 per bushel for those grading No. 2 and containing from 13.8 to 14.0 percent moisture. Galen D. Mowery, chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee announced today. The schedule of premiums and discounts for the 1962 program is the same as for 1961.

In order to meet minimum eligibility requirements, soybeans must grade No. 4 or better and must contain not more than 14 percent moisture.

The chairman reminded growers that, to be eligible for support under the 1962 operation, soybeans must be produced in 1962 and the producer in 1962 must maintain his 1959-60 average of conserving idle land on the farm. This same requirement was in effect for the 1961-crop soybean program.

As in the past, price support will be carried out through farm and warehouse storage loans and purchase agreements which will be available from harvest through Jan. 31, 1963. The maturity date for loans will be May 31, 1963.

Further information on the 1962-crop soybean price support program may be obtained from the ASCS County office.

Lima Police Officer Back On Payroll

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — Police inspector Alven H. Grady, fired last Thursday after 27 years on the force by Acting Mayor Homer Cooper, is back on the pay roll again but with an official reprimand.

Lima Mayor William B. Nungester, who returned from a vacation Monday, reinstated Grady Tuesday.

The inspector was fired after a letter was sent to Council by policemen asking a salary increase. The letter, according to some officials, hinted at a police slowdown if the wage demands were not met. Grady is chairman of the committee seeking the increase from $4,912 to $5,700 a year.

Nungester, in reinstating Grady, said the "letter was poorly worded and did not accurately state the intentions of the police department."

Grady has denied all along any threat of a slow-down.

Nungester said the letter's wording would bring it within the definitions of a strike and in reality there has been no indication that the department would slow down their activities if he raise was not granted.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook.

Warm, moist air pushed into Ohio Tuesday night and scattered light showers resulted. Skies varied from clear to cloudy at dawn today, and rain was still falling at Cincinnati. Temperatures were in the 60s during the night, and at sunrise today readings ranged from 62 at Youngstown to 63 at Columbus and 68 at Cincinnati.

Southerly winds today will continue the flow of warm, moist air into Ohio, and scattered showers and thundershowers will occur mainly this afternoon and tonight.

Skies will clear Thursday and temperatures will be a little cooler as winds turn to northwesterly.

OHIO FIVE DAY FORECASTS

NORTHERN OHIO — Temperatures will average five to six degrees below normal. Normal high 83 - 85, normal low 61 - 66. Cool Thursday, warming trend Sunday and Monday. Rainfall will average two-tenths to three-tenths of an inch in a few showers tonight and scattered showers about Sunday or Monday.

SOUTHERN & CENTRAL OHIO — Temperatures will average about five degrees below normal. Normal high 85-89, normal low 62-66. Cooler Thursday, a little warmer about Monday. Rainfall will average one - fourth to one-half inch in showers tonight, southeast Thursday morning again about Monday.

Jailhouse Serenade

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Desk Sgt. H. B. Walker thought he had seen everything in his years at the police station. But he added something new to the list when a petite young woman with a violin case walked in one Sunday afternoon and asked:

"Could I play my violin in the ladies rest room?"

"I don't suppose anyone would object," Walker said.

"I've got to play in the symphony orchestra this afternoon, and I need to practice," the woman explained.

Water rose one foot a second during the Galveston, Tex., flood of 1900 in which 6,000 persons were drowned.

Paris Designer Stresses Classic, Elegant Fashions

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
Associated Press Fashion Writer
PARIS (AP)—Quiet, restrained, classic and elegant—those are words that have to be used to describe Pierre Balmain's fall and winter collection show today.

Put them all together and you get wearability, the most desirable of all fashion qualities.

This was the main theme of the second day of French fashion house openings for the coming season.

Balmain's suit silhouette is long and slim, high-waisted, wide-shouldered with padded long sleeves, mostly crisply man-tailored. Skirts are pencil slim.

His long jacket suits with side vents and notched lapels are the kind you would wear, as the models did, with slouch hats, and carrying a walking stick.

Fur collars and cuffs, or shirt-type fabric collars were worn over shorter jackets, or cowl-necked blouses, or doublets.

Coats follow the same general silhouette—slim and high-waisted, with wide, padded shoulders. Occasionally there is fullness from the shoulder blades, emphasized by well-seamed inserts.

Balmain encircles the waistline with cummerbunds, or crosses it with panels that tie to one side or another. Bateau and cowl and camisole necklines were typical on heavy crepe after 5 dresses.

He spells out nearly everything in black or white. A few exceptions are gray flannels, quiet checks or plaid in autumn hues in the suit collection.

Both elaborate and sedate among his evening costumes were black and white. He added jewelry to these, sometimes from one end to the other in the form of sequins, jet beads and crystals.

Today's highlight in history: On this day in 1934, Engelbert Dollfuss, chancellor of Austria, was shot to death by Nazi conspirators. The killers, disguised as members of the regular Austrian army, seized the chancellor in Vienna. The assassination spelled the end of Austrian independence and paved the way for union with Hitler's Germany.

On this date: In 1859, David Bleascoe — one of the leading dramatists and producers of the American stage — was born in San Francisco.

In 1863, the Wyoming Territory was organized out of parts of Dakota, Utah and Idaho.

In 1908—an American athlete—Johanne Hayes—won the famous Marathon Run at the Olympic Games in London, thereby raising American prestige in international competition.

In 1944, almost two months after D-Day, the Allied Armies launched an all-out drive to break out of their Normandy beachhead.

In 1952 Puerto Rico became a U.S. commonwealth under legislation signed by President Truman.

Today's birthday: Actor Walter Brennan is 68.

Thought for today: Government and cooperation are in all things the law of life—John Ruskin.

TODAY In History

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook.

Warm, moist air pushed into Ohio Tuesday night and scattered light showers resulted.

Skies varied from clear to cloudy at dawn today, and rain was still falling at Cincinnati. Temperatures were in the 60s during the night, and at sunrise today readings ranged from 62 at Youngstown to 63 at Columbus and 68 at Cincinnati.

Southerly winds today will continue the flow of warm, moist air into Ohio, and scattered showers and thundershowers will occur mainly this afternoon and tonight.

Skies will clear Thursday and temperatures will be a little cooler as winds turn to northwesterly.

OHIO FIVE DAY FORECASTS

NORTHERN OHIO — Temperatures will average five to six degrees below normal. Normal high 83 - 85, normal low 61 - 66. Cool Thursday, warming trend Sunday and Monday. Rainfall will average two-tenths to three-tenths of an inch in a few showers tonight and scattered showers about Sunday or Monday.

SOUTHERN & CENTRAL OHIO — Temperatures will average about five degrees below normal. Normal high 85-89, normal low 62-66. Cooler Thursday, a little warmer about Monday. Rainfall will average one - fourth to one-half inch in showers tonight, southeast Thursday morning again about Monday.

Jailhouse Serenade

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Desk Sgt. H. B. Walker thought he had seen everything in his years at the police station. But he added something new to the list when a petite young woman with a violin case walked in one Sunday afternoon and asked:

"Could I play my violin in the ladies rest room?"

"I don't suppose anyone would object," Walker said.

"I've got to play in the symphony orchestra this afternoon, and I need to practice," the woman explained.

Paris Designer Stresses Classic, Elegant Fashions

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

Associated Press Fashion Writer

PARIS (AP)—Quiet, restrained, classic and elegant—those are words that have to be used to describe Pierre Balmain's fall and winter collection show today.

Put them all together and you get wearability, the most desirable of all fashion qualities.

This was the main theme of the second day of French fashion house openings for the coming season.

Balmain's suit silhouette is long and slim, high-waisted, wide-shouldered with padded long sleeves, mostly crisply man-tailored. Skirts are pencil slim.

His long jacket suits with side vents and notched lapels are the kind you would wear, as the models did, with slouch hats, and carrying a walking stick.

Fur collars and cuffs, or shirt-type fabric collars were worn over shorter jackets, or cowl-necked blouses, or doublets.

Coats follow the same general silhouette—slim and high-waisted, with wide, padded shoulders. Occasionally there is fullness from the shoulder blades, emphasized by well-seamed insets.

Balmain encircles the waistline with cummerbunds, or crosses it with panels that tie to one side or another. Bateau and cowl and camisole necklines were typical on heavy crepe after 5 dresses.

He spells out nearly everything in black or white. A few exceptions are gray flannels, quiet checks or plaid in autumn hues in the suit collection.

Both elaborate and sedate among his evening costumes were black and white. He added jewelry to these, sometimes from one end to the other in the form of sequins, jet beads and crystals.

$17 Million Budget Is Set Up for OU

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Vernon R. Alden, president of Ohio University, announced a university budget of $17 million for the 1962-63 academic year today.

He said the total, $5.5 million, or about 32 per cent, will come from state appropriations. About 58 per cent, or $9.8 million, will come from student fees and charges, and $1.7 million from grants for research, overseas projects and from private gifts.

Mount To Enter Riverside College

William (Bill) Mount, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Mount, Route 1, Stoutsville, has completed plans to enter Riverside City College, Riverside, Calif., in September.

The Mounts lived on Logan St. in Circleville prior to moving to the Stoutsville area.

Young Mount was graduated at Amanda - Clearcreek High School where he played football and participated in other athletics. He also was a member of the grid team here and was a star performer in the local Youth Baseball program before moving.

The Amanda - Clearcreek grad has relatives living in California, one of the main reasons for his enrolling at Riverside.

Savings Bonds Total for June Is $32,485

Pickaway County sales of Series E and H Savings Bonds during June totalled $32,485 for a six month total of $198,662 according to Judge William D. Radcliff, county chairman.

Judge Radcliff stated that the Freedom Bond Drive ended June 30 with all sales during the first six months counting toward the drive quota.

In Ohio 91 per cent of the drive quota was attained with four major industrial counties, Mahoning, Montgomery, Lucas and Franklin achieving more than 100 per cent of quota.

Ohio Sales of Series E and H bonds during June reached $22.3 million for a six months total of $144.7 million.

Crawford County led all counties in percentage of Freedom Drive quota attained followed by Morgan, Fairfield, Lake and Mercer counties.

Announcement of the award to the new secretary of health, education and welfare was made in New York Tuesday by Dr. Lewis Webster Jones, conference president.

"Throughout his private and political career, Secretary Celebrezze has been on the forefront of America's campaign for the abolishment of prejudice and bigotry," Dr. Jones said.

Celebrezze was elected to an unprecedented fifth term as mayor of Cleveland last November. He will resign that post Friday and will be sworn in Tuesday as a member of President Kennedy's cabinet to succeed Abraham A. Ribicoff.

The citation which goes with the award said Celebrezze, a Roman Catholic, was chosen for the honor because "he has been extremely sensitive to intergroup problems and questions."

"As mayor of one of the largest of cosmopolitan cities in the United States he has worked diligently to secure for all nationalities, races, cultures and religions those equal rights and opportunities that are the heritage of all Americans."

Businessmen-in-Politics Idea Taking Firm Root in Nation

EDITOR'S NOTE — The clash between President Kennedy and Big Steel raised questions whether businessmen should take a more active role in politics in order to make their views more effective. The following first of three articles tells of the new "businessman-in-politics" movement.

By ROGER LANE
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Across the land, the idea is taking root in the business community that the businessman belongs in politics—from the precinct level on up.
It is not a brand new idea, but a conviction seems to be growing in some sectors that the businessman has held too aloof too long, mistakingly feeling he hasn't the time or, as a Ford Motor Co. executive put it, that "politics are sordid and a little dirty."
Some prominent industrialists are also wondering aloud if past aloofness on their part isn't a basic cause of what they believe is a misunderstanding of the business community in Washington.
In a reversal of old positions, more than 250 business corporations, including some of the biggest, are systematically spurring management personnel to wade into politics, and run for office, too.

There are predictions of great growth of the businessman-in-politics movement despite some doubt within the business community itself of methods used or goals to be achieved.

The latest businessmen-in-politics movement was given fresh impetus by the government-Big Steel clash over a price hike last April; the resultant debate over business-government relations, and former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's call for businessmen "to get into politics—and quick."

Some companies, even before these recent events, started political education activities programs stressing free enterprise economics and some of the evils of socialism and communism just as unions dwell on welfare and civil rights questions.

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce

reports that in the last 3½ years possibly 300,000 persons, mostly businessmen, have taken its "Action Course in Practical Politics" in 1,700 communities.

A leading force in the businessman-in-politics movement is a small non-profit agency backed by the General Electric Co., Standard Oil of Indiana and many other firms of similar stature. Its purpose: "To arouse the business community from its inertia."

Called the Effective Citizens Organization, its advisory council is headed by former President Herbert Hoover. On its council are Henry Ford II, James A. Farley, George M. Humphrey, secretary of the Treasury under Eisenhower, and Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston.

The citizens group urges the generals of finance and industry and their lieutenants to get out after office hours and join the political troops, as foot soldiers, if need be.

The result, the organization argues, will be an infusion of new and talented blood into both the Republican and Democratic party ranks of doorbell ringers and office holders, with benefits to the nation's public life—and indirectly to the business community.

Some conservative Republican corporation heads see the aim as "redressing the balance" in federal executive and legislative policy shaping, which they say is labor and liberal dominated.

One recent expression of the businessman's acceptance of his role in politics was the choice of Syracuse industrialist David H. Jaquith as Conservative party nominee for governor of New York.

Said Jaquith: "I am taking President Eisenhower's words to heart."

Jaquith, a follower of Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., reflected widespread sentiment in business in calling for "less government instead of more" and urging an end to the "liberal stranglehold over both political parties in New York."

Even by optimistic reckoning scarcely five per cent of the nation's business ventures have joined in the businessman-in-politics movement. Many of these are groping cautiously, even timidly, into strange territory until recently regarded as "off limits."

In a very real way, of course, some corporations always have been hip-deep in politics—going back to the days of the railroad and utility barons, exerting influence through lobbying, trade associations and individual contributions to candidates.

It's the coming out from behind the scenes that is new.

Thursday: The corporate role in politics.

BEHIND THE TELSTAR SCENES—Here are the two key points in that U.S.-Europe television hookup. Technicians (upper) make adjustments in New York at the all-network control center for NBC, CBS and ABC. The key point in Europe (lower) is located at the highest point in Brussels, Belgium capital. From here television relayed by orbiting Telstar is fanned out to European TV stations. This also is the point from which European TV stations are linked to the U.S.

Ex-Secretary Sues CIO for Severance Pay

CLEVELAND (AP)—William J. Finegan has filed suit against the Cleveland Federation of Labor (AFL-CIO) for $16,900 in severance pay he claims it agreed to pay him when he resigned as its secretary last October.

Finegan's petition, filed in Common Pleas Court, said the $16,900 is the amount of a full year's salary. He also sees 6 per cent interest since Jan. 1. Finegan resigned under fire from the national AFL-CIO for failing to produce financial records for 1956-1958 after he was charged with income tax evasion for the period by the federal government. The severance pay agreement was rejected early this year by Daniel J. Healy, named trustee of the federation by national AFL-CIO President George Meany. Finegan claims he had 15 months to serve when the agreement was made.

Finegan had pleaded guilty to evasion of $32,000 in taxes for 1957 and was fined $5,000. Government charges for the other two years were withdrawn.

Businessmen-in-Politics Idea Taking Firm Root in Nation

EDITOR'S NOTE — The clash between President Kennedy and Big Steel raised questions whether businessmen should take a more active role in politics in order to make their views more effective. The following first of three articles tells of the new "businessman-in-politics" movement.

By ROGER LANE
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Across the land, the idea is taking root in the business community that the businessman belongs in politics—from the precinct level on up. It is not a brand new idea, but a conviction seems to be growing in some sectors that the businessman has held too long, mistakenly feeling he hasn't the time or, as a Ford Motor Co. executive put it, that "politics are sordid and a little dirty."

Some prominent industrialists are also wondering aloud if past aloofness on their part isn't a basic cause of what they believe is a misunderstanding of the business community in Washington. In a reversal of old positions, more than 250 business corporations, including some of the biggest, are systematically spurring management personnel to wade into politics, and run for office, too.

There are predictions of great growth of the businessman-in-politics movement despite some doubt within the business community itself of methods used or goals to be achieved.

The latest "businessmen-in-politics" movement was given fresh impetus by the government-Big Steel clash over a price hike last April, the resultant debate over business-government relations, and former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's call for businessmen "to get into politics—and quick."

Some companies, even before these recent events, started political education activities programs stressing free enterprise economics and some of the evils of socialism and communism just as unions dwell on welfare and civil rights questions.

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce

reports that in the last 3½ years possibly 300,000 persons, mostly businessmen, have taken its "Action Course in Practical Politics" in 1,700 communities.

A leading force in the businessman-in-politics movement is a small non-profit agency backed by the General Electric Co., Standard Oil of Indiana and many other firms of similar stature. Its purpose: "To arouse the business community from its inertia."

Called the Effective Citizens Organization, its advisory council is headed by former President Herbert Hoover. On its council are Henry Ford II, James A. Farley, George M. Humphrey, secretary of the Treasury under Eisenhower, and Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston.

The citizens group urges the generals of finance and industry and their lieutenants to get out after office hours and join the political troops, as foot soldiers, if need be.

The result, the organization argues, will be an infusion of new and talented blood into both the Republican and Democratic party ranks of doorbell ringers and office holders, with benefits to the nation's public life—and indirectly to the business community.

Some conservative Republican corporation heads see the aim as "redressing the balance" in federal executive and legislative policy shaping, which they say is labor and liberal dominated.

One recent expression of the businessman's acceptance of his role in politics was the choice of Syracuse industrialist David H. Jaquith as Conservative party nominee for governor of New York.

Said Jaquith: "I am taking President Eisenhower's words to heart."

Jaquith, a follower of Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., reflected widespread sentiment in business in calling for "less government instead of more" and urging an end to the "liberal stranglehold over both political parties in New York."

Even by optimistic reckoning scarcely five per cent of the nation's business ventures have joined in the businessman-in-politics movement. Many of these are groping cautiously, even timidly, into strange territory until recently regarded as "off limits."

In a very real way, of course, some corporations always have been hip-deep in politics—going back to the days of the railroad and utility barons, exerting influence through lobbying, trade associations and individual contributions to candidates.

It's the coming out from behind the scenes that is new. Thursday: The corporate role in politics.

BEHIND THE TELSTAR SCENES—Here are the two key points in that U.S.-Europe television hookup. Technicians (upper) make adjustments in New York at the all-network control center for NBC, CBS and ABC. The key point in Europe (lower) is located at the highest point in Brussels, Belgium capital. From here television relayed by orbiting Telstar is fanned out to European TV stations. This also is the point from which European TV stations are linked to the U.S.

Ex-Secretary Sues CIO for Severance Pay

CLEVELAND (AP)—William J. Finegan has filed suit against the Cleveland Federation of Labor (AFL-CIO) for $16,900 in severance pay he claims it agreed to pay him when he resigned as its secretary last October.

Finegan's petition, filed in Common Pleas Court, said the $16,900 is the amount of a full year's salary. He also sees 6 per cent interest since Jan. 1. Finegan resigned under fire from the national AFL-CIO for failing to produce financial records for 1956-1958 after he was charged with income tax evasion for the period by the federal government.

The severance pay agreement was rejected early this year by Daniel J. Healy, named trustee of the federation by national AFL-CIO President George Meany. Finegan claims he had 15 months to serve when the agreement was made.

Finegan had pleaded guilty to evasion of $32,000 in taxes for 1957 and was fined $5,000. Government charges for the other two years were withdrawn.

Cook No-Hit, No-Run Game Tops BR Play

Dave Cook pitched a no-hit, no-run game as Ashville No. 2 defeated Kochheiser, 15-0, in the Babe Ruth Minors.

Ashville No. 2, and Savings Bank finished in a two way third round tie for first in the minors with identical 3-1 marks.

DuPont finished the third round with a 3-2 mark good for second place in the Babe Ruth Majors.

100F, Oilers, Jaycees Win

LL Minors Could End in 2-Way Tie

The final standings in the Little League Minors could well end in a tie.

The 100F team finished its regular season yesterday with a 18-14 win over Rotary for an overall record of 10 wins and three losses.

In other little league action Jaycees won an 8-3 contest from Ward's Market to record a 9-3 record.

The Oilers got off to an early lead with a three run first inning.

SPORTS Federations Set To Challenge AAU

CHICAGO (AP) — The new national track and basketball federations were all dressed up today and ready to go—into a real showdown with the Amateur Athletic Union for control of those two sports.

The two groups formally completed their organization Tuesday after a two-day session, ratifying constitutions and naming officers.

The basketball federation, which has approved a $20,000 annual budget to establish an office at a site to be designated, already has the AAU over a barrel concerning a proposed Russian basketball tour in November.

The AAU must ask the basketball federation of permit college cagers to compete a month ahead of the regular season to face the Russians in a proposed eight or nine game series in this country.

Rochester Win Streak Stopped At 5 by Jets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It looks as if the old farm system truism about "first in the minors, first in the majors" is working, in reverse, for the New York Mets and the Washington Senators.

It took a good portion of the International League season to do it, but the Syracuse Chiefs, with whom the Mets and Senators have a joint working agreement, joined their major league brethren in last place.

Richmond, which had occupied the spot for a long stretch, shoved the Chiefs 2½ lengths into the basement Tuesday night—sweeping a two-night doubleheader from Syracuse, 3-2 and 5-1.

In other games, Toronto beat league-leading Jacksonville 6-2, and Columbus turned back Rochester 8-6, snapping the Red Wings five-game win streak. The Buffalo at Atlanta game was rained out.

Buddy Pritchard drove in five runs, three on a first inning homer, for the Jets' victory at Rochester. Al Pehanick won over Art Quirk. Willy Stargell also homered for Columbus and Dan Kravitz had three hits, including a home run, for Rochester.

THE DODGERS

THE DODGERS were limited to a pair of singles by the Redleg hurlers. Stir was charged with the loss, while Gloyd picked up his fifth straight win.

The Cardinals shutout the Yankees, 5-0, on the strength of Larry Dixon's fine pitching performance.

The Cardinals' hitting was paced by Bruce Roese, Mike Lombardi and Larry Dixon. Each boy garnered a pair of hits.

The Indians won their first league game by breaking a 3-3 tie in the fourth inning as Gary Rife and Jim Pickering drove in the breaking runs with sharp singles.

Lefty John Huffines went all the way to pick up the win. Dick Barr was charged with the loss.

Mac's Goodyear, Cook's Insurance Win ML Games

The Lewis Cook Insurance Mosquito League baseball team increased edge in the league with a 10-4 win over the Circleville Building Supply nine, and Mac's Goodyear beat Pickaway Dairy, 5-1, in yesterday's action.

The insurance team collected nine hits, four of them by Paul Town, while holding the opponents hitless in the six inning tilt.

The big frames for the winners were the third and fifth. They scored four runs in each of them.

Mac's Goodyear scored five runs on two hits, one of them a homerun, by Dick Speakman. Terry Morrison of the luckless Pickaway Dairy nine collected the losers two hits.

Morrison and Alex Heckert shared the mound duties for the losers, and Jim Kohlbeck was credited with the win. Kohlbeck fanned 14 in his route going performance.

Redlegs Win 1st Round in TV League

The Redlegs won the first round in the Teays Valley little league with a mark of 5-0.

The Cardinals and the Yankees finished in a tie for second with 3-2 marks according to Herb Pettibone, Teays Valley little league secretary. The Giants had a first round record of 2-3, and the Indians and the Dodgers tied for fifth with 1-4 marks.

The first round champion Redlegs, finished with an easy 16-1 victory over the Dodgers. Chet Gloyd, the league's top hurler, started and gave way to Van Gregg after his teammates built up a whooping 14, to 1 lead.

Gary Heath, Rex Gregg, and Chet Gloyd paced their team's batting with perfect three for three roles at the plate. Gregg and Gloyd each poled bases loaded triples. Bill Hall, Redleg shortstop, chipped in with a pair of doubles, good for five runs batted in.

THE DODGERS were limited to a pair of singles by the Redleg hurlers. Stir was charged with the loss, while Gloyd picked up his fifth straight win. The game was called after four innings due to the large score.

The Cardinals shutout the Yankees, 5-0, on the strength of Larry Dixon's fine pitching performance. Dixon was in complete control, striking out nine and walking only one.

The Cards' hitting was paced by Bruce Reese, Mike Lombardi and Larry Dixon. Each boy garnered a pair of hits. Reese's two-run homer in the second was all that Dixon needed as the southpaw effectively scattered four singles. Ron Lambert's two sharp singles paced the Yankee offense.

Brent Roy was the losing pitcher, suffering his first defeat against no wins, while Dixon picked up the victory to square his record at 1-1.

The Indians won their first league game by breaking a 3-3 tie in the fourth inning as Gary Rife and Jim Pickering drove in the breaking runs with sharp singles.

Jim Pickering paced the Indian attack with a triple and a single, while Gene Neff, the league's leading hitter again paced his team's attack, belting a two-run homer and a run scoring double.

Lefty John Huffins went all the way to pick up the win. Dick Barr was charged with the loss.

Mac's Goodyear, Cook's Insurance Win ML Games

The Lewis Cook Insurance Mosquito League baseball team increased edge in the league with a 10-4 win over the Circleville Building Supply nine, and Mac's Goodyear beat Pickaway Dairy, 5-1, in yesterday's action.

The insurance team collected nine hits, four of them by Paul Town, while holding the opponents hitless in the six inning tilt.

The big frames for the winners were the third and fifth. They scored four runs in each of them.

Mac's Goodyear scored five runs on two hits, one of them a homerun, by Dick Speakman. Terry Morrison of the luckless Pickaway Dairy nine collected the losers two hits.

Morrison and Alex Heckert shared the mound duties for the losers, and Jim Kohlbeck was credited with the win. Kohlbeck fanned 14 in his route going performance.

Cook No-Hit, No-Run Game Tops BR Play

Dave Cook pitched a no-hit, no-run game as Ashville No. 2 defeated Kochheiser, 15-0, in the Babe Ruth Minors. DuPont finished the third round with a 14-2 romp over GE in the Babe Ruth Majors.

Ashville No. 2, and Savings Bank finished in a two way third round tie for first in the minors with identical 3-1 marks. Kochheiser's final record stands at 1-10, Third National and VFW have 4-7 records with one game left on their schedule.

DuPont finished the third round with a 3-2 mark good for second place in the Babe Ruth Majors. The DuPonters won the first round and finished in a two way tie with Ashville No. 1 for first in the second round.

Ashville and DuPont will have a playoff game Friday to determine the second round champion.

Only 3 Golfers To Compete in 'World Series'

NEW YORK (AP)—The $75,000 world series of golf champion since September will be limited to Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player, sponsors decided Tuesday.

Original plans for the 36-hole medal play competition, scheduled Sept. 8-9 at the Firestone Country Club in Akron, Ohio, were to match the winners of the four major world championship tournaments—the U.S. Open, Masters and PGA and the British Open.

Since Palmer won both the Masters and the British tournament, there was speculation that another top pro would be invited to join the threesome.

Walter Schwimmer, a Chicago television producer, and the PGA announced, however, that they and the sponsors had decided to stick to the concept of only champions participating in the new challenge match.

Player qualified by winning the PGA last Sunday. Nicklaus by beating Palmer in a playoff for the U.S. Open title last month.

It will be a bonanza for all three players. The winner will receive $50,000, the runner-up $15,000 and the past place finisher $10,000. The last six holes each day will be telecast live by the National Broadcasting Company.

All-Star Grid Prep Booked

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—The squads for the 17th annual Ohio North - South All-Star high school football game at Fawcett Stadium Aug. 10 will begin assembling here Sunday. The first workout is scheduled for Monday afternoon.

The rosters were completed Tuesday with the addition of Ed Radel, star line backer for undefeated Massillon last year, to the North squad.

Bill Van Brocklin of Poland's Tri County league champions heads the North coaching staff. His assistants will be Earl Bruce of Sandusky, Paul Cary of Cuyahoga Falls and Al Carrino of Columbus Grove.

The South coaching staff is headed by Bob Wions of undefeated Martins Ferry. His aides are Jim Conrad of Chesapeake, Ray Peirry of Troy and Larry Peterson of Lancaster.

The series stands 8-6-2 in favor of the North.

IOOF, Oilers, Jaycees Win

LL Minors Could End in 2-Way Tie

The final standings in the Little League Minors could well end in a tie.

The IOOF team finished its regular season yesterday with a 18-14 win over Rotary for an overall record of 10 wins and three losses.

In other little league action Jaycees won an 8-3 contest from Ward's Market to record a 9-3 record. Their remaining game is with Blue Ribbon Dairy. The Dairyman have won five while losing seven.

A Jaycee win tomorrow could deadlock the minor league standings.

CIRCLEVILLE OIL won its fourth game of the year, beating the Savings Bank, 9-6.

The Oilers got off to an early lead with a three run first inning. They tallied three more in the second and one in the fourth and two in the fifth. Jennings and Chris McKenzie paced the Oilers with three hits each.

The IOOF baseballers collected 16 hits, four of them by Jack Jenkins, in assuring themselves of a league tie. Dannie Fausnaugh and Bowers had three singles each for the winners. Gary Dumm, Tom Rowland, Ken Keller and Hopkins each had a pair of singles for the losers.

Fausnaugh was the winning pitcher. He fanned five of the last six Rotary batters to face him.

Mark Frericks paced the Jaycee win over the Marketmen with three singles. Gary Garret doubled and singled for the winners and Mike Johnson connected for two safe blows.

The Jaycees overcame a 2-1 first inning deficit with two runs in the second frame. They came back with two in third and put the game out of reach in the bottom of the fifth with three tallies.

Ricky Prushing was the winning hurler, fanning 11.

2-Year-Old Features Added to Jug Program

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—There will be an addition this year to the famous Little Brown Jug for 3-year-old pacers at the Delaware County Fairgrounds.

Hank Thomson, head of the racing program, said Tuesday the nation's fastest 2-year-old trotters and pacers are expected for the Ohio Standardbred Futurities Sept. 19 and 20. The futurities, worth more than $14,000 each, will be offered as co-featured with the Jug.

Federations Set To Challenge AAU

CHICAGO (AP) — The new national track and basketball federations were all dressed up today and ready to go—into a real showdown with the Amateur Athletic Union for control of those two sports.

The two groups formally completed their organization Tuesday after a two-day session, ratifying constitutions and naming officers. The track group announced four championships independent of the AAU.

Still to be wooed and won by the United States Track and Field Federation and the Basketball Federation of the United States are the International Amateur Athletic Federation (track) and the Federation of International Basketball Associations.

These two groups have the say in accepting athletes for such international competition as the Olympic games.

The basketball federation chose Arthur (Dutch) Lonborg, Kansas athletic director and former cage coach, as its chairman. The track group elected as president W. W. Russell of Los Angeles, California representative on the National Federation of High School Athletic Associations.

Triworthy Is Winner Of Feature at Scioto

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) —Triworthy won the featured seventh race for C-1 pacers at Scioto Downs Tuesday night, returning $24.66.

Hi Ranger ran second and paid $5.60, while Karen Purdue and Erleta finished in a dead heat for third. Karen Purdue returned $2.20 and Erleta $2.60.

Ayersville Cage Star Signs with Tennessee

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—All-Ohio guard Danny Neff of Ayersville, Ohio, has signed a basketball grant-in-aid at the University of Tennessee, coach Ray Meares reported Tuesday. Neff, 5-foot-11, led Ayersville to the Ohio Class A championship in his junior year.

Rochester Win Streak Stopped At 5 by Jets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It looks as if the old farm system truism about "first in the majors, first in the minors" is working, in reverse, for the New York Mets and the Washington Senators.

It took a good portion of the International League season to do it, but the Syracuse Chiefs, with whom the Mets and Senators have a joint working agreement, joined their major league brethren in last place.

Richmond, which had occupied the spot for a long stretch, shoved the Chiefs 2½ lengths into the basement Tuesday night—sweeping a two-night doubleheader from Syracuse, 3-2 and 5-1.

In other games, Toronto beat league-leading Jacksonville 6 - 2, and Columbus turned back Rochester 8-6, snapping the Red Wings five-game win streak. The Buffalo at Atlanta game was rained out.

Buddy Pritchard drove in five runs, three on a first inning homer, for the Jets' victory at Rochester. Al Pehanick won over Art Quirk. Willy Stargell also homered for Columbus and Dan Kravitz had three hits, including a home run, for Rochester.

Seattle's Space Needle 'Tempered' to Suit All

By HARRY KURSH
Written Especially for Central Press and This Newspaper

By the time the Seattle World's Fair ends this October its much-photographed symbol, the 500-foot Space Needle, may rival the Eiffel Tower as a world attraction.

However, what is generally unknown—and it comes as a pleasant surprise to Seattle World's Fair visitors—is that the Space Needle is no mere inert symbol.

At the top of the tower is a glass-enclosed, 300-seat restaurant and an observation deck which can be reached by three elevators.

Diners in the tower like to take their time eating. In fact, they like to sit for a least one hour in order to get a complete 360-degree view of Seattle without once leaving their seats.

The unique tower, powered by an amazing one-horsepower motor, is built on a platform which revolves almost imperceptibly, making a complete revolution every hour.

At a height roughly equivalent to 50 stories, the tower restaurant presented many formidable engineering problems, not the least of which was—how do you keep people cool or warm, sometimes both, when they are sitting in the sun, then suddenly they are in cold shade?

The solution, left to an air-conditioning company, was equally unique. The company came up with something new, air-conditioning that could switch instantly back and forth between cooling and heating.

They installed two 25-ton, gas-fired "absorption" air-conditioners, each about the size of a piano. These units, in effect, are "gas furnaces with a cooling cycle."

"It's a new air-conditioning system for a new concept in architecture," said Rolf C. Lux of the firm which designed the Space Needle.

According to a spokesman for the World's Fair, the "erection of the Space Needle taxed the ingenuity of the builders."

"A special crane built right into the structure hoisted steel members into place and itself was moved upward as work progressed."

To install the unusual cooling-heating system, some two miles of water and gas pipe had to be built into the tower.

Discrimination Fear Hinted Negro Curb

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The possibility that Negroes and other minority groups are not taking advantage of employment opportunities for fear of discrimination was suggested at a meeting here Tuesday.

Morris Riger of Cleveland, chairman of the Ohio Advisory Committee of the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights, made the observation at a meeting to discuss ways to upgrade the state's apprenticeship programs.

Riger told committee members that Negroes have not been applying for apprenticeship openings, and added: "Much of the problem may stem from a fear of being discriminated against."

The committee decided on a study to determine whether equal opportunities for all are being offered by apprenticeship programs in Ohio. A number of public hearings will be held around Ohio in October with the exact dates to be determined later.

Key Sets Are Lost

Mrs. Hilda Butler, Lynwood Ave., informed city police she lost two sets of keys in this area. She said several keys were with each set.

Rabies From Bats

Q. Is it dangerous to go into caves where there are bats? I have heard that bats have rabies.

A. Bats can have rabies and there are cases on record of human rabies from bat bites. Studies in Texas conducted by the Communicable Disease Center indicate that rabies virus can be transmitted through the air in certain bat caves. The scientists placed caged animals (dogs, cats, foxes, etc.) in a bat-infested cave. Even though a number of the animals were caged inside enclosures designed to keep out even the smallest insects, some of the animals so caged became ill and died of rabies. Prior to this experiment, scientists had thought that rabies could be transmitted only by the bite of a rabid animal.

Adhesions

Q. What causes adhesions following abdominal surgery? Do some people develop adhesions more readily than others?

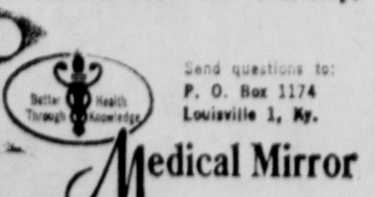

A. Adhesions are most likely to form if infection (peritonitis) has occurred. Individual susceptibility probably has nothing to do with adhesion formation. Symptoms of adhesions are extremely difficult if not impossible to diagnose. However, in extreme cases, adhesions form in such a way as to cause kinking or loop-type obstruction of the bowel. When this happens, corrective surgery is required.

Fingernail Biting

Q. What causes a person to bite their fingernails? I have heard that it is due to nervousness but I know people who are the nervous type and who have nice fingernails.

A. We could pass along some pretty learned and complicated theories to explain fingernail nibbling but in the final analysis it's a habit. Nail biting isn't very hygienic nor is it socially acceptable, but no great harm is done. Is there a cure? Yes. Just stop.

We have but one policy—to provide drugs of the highest quality at reasonable prices.

Ex-Mental Patient Kills Wife, Himself

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—A former mental patient shot and killed his estranged wife and then took his own life at Glouster, 14 miles north of here, Tuesday night.

Sheriff Harold E. Shields said Mrs. Ida Cain, about 40, mother of five children, was shot three times with a .22-caliber magnum pistol on the front porch of her home.

The body of Ralph Merle Cain, 41, with a single shot in the forehead, was found in a clump of woods about three blocks away early today.

Shields said the couple had been having domestic troubles for some time, and that Mrs. Cain filed for divorce about three months ago.

He said that Cain had been a patient at intervals at Athens State Hospital, the last time in March.

Police Chief Ray Fulton at Glouster said some of the couple's children witnessed the shooting.

JFK Agrees Puerto Ricans Should Vote on Preference

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy notified Puerto Rico's governor today he agrees that the people of Puerto Rico now should vote on their preference for independence, statehood or perfecting the present commonwealth form of government.

Kennedy's views were in a letter the White House said Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson would deliver today to Gov. Luis Munoz Marin. Kennedy appointed Johnson to represent the people of the United States on the celebration today of the 10th anniversary of the founding of the commonwealth government.

Hundreds cheered Johnson Tuesday night on his arrival in San Juan.

Munoz had written the President that he believes the time has come for growth and improvement of the commonwealth system. He said he intended to ask the Puerto Rican Legislature to enact a law that would submit to a vote of the people proposals "to perfect the commonwealth within its association with the United States."

"It is my purpose also," Munoz told Kennedy, "to recommend that advocates of both independence and federated statehood for Puerto Rico should be afforded the opportunity in the legislation to present these alternatives to the electorate, so that no doubt whatever may be entertained either in Puerto Rico, in the United States or elsewhere that the basic United States Principle of self-determination has been thoroughly carried out."

The Munoz letter was dated July 10. Kennedy's answer was dated July 24.

The President said he is aware that the commonwealth relationship is not perfected and has not realized its full potential. He said he is in full sympathy with the aspiration Munoz expressed for maximum development of the commonwealth system.

The commonwealth is a self-governing entity permanently affiliated with the United States. In Congress it has only a resident commissioner without a vote.

Rabies From Bats

Q. Is it dangerous to go into caves where there are bats? I have heard that bats have rabies.

A. Bats can have rabies and there are cases on record of human rabies from bat bites. Studies in Texas conducted by the Communicable Disease Center indicate that rabies virus can be transmitted through the air in certain bat caves. The scientists placed caged animals (dogs, cats, foxes, etc.) in a bat-infested cave. Even though a number of the animals were caged inside enclosures designed to keep out even the smallest insects, some of the animals so caged became ill and died of rabies. Prior to this experiment, scientists had thought that rabies could be transmitted only by the bite of a rabid animal.

Adhesions

Q. What causes adhesions following abdominal surgery? Do some people develop adhesions more readily than others?

A. Adhesions are most likely to form if infection (peritonitis) has occurred. Individual susceptibility probably has nothing to do with adhesion formation. Symptoms of adhesions are extremely difficult if not impossible to diagnose. However, in extreme cases, adhesions form in such a way as to cause kinking or loop-type obstruction of the bowel. When this happens, corrective surgery is required.

Fingernail Biting

Q. What causes a person to bite their fingernails? I have heard that it is due to nervousness but I know people who are the nervous type and who have nice fingernails.

A. We could pass along some pretty learned and complicated theories to explain fingernail nibbling but in the final analysis it's a habit. Nail biting isn't very hygienic nor is it socially acceptable, but no great harm is done. Is there a cure? Yes. Just stop.
